Bright, shining, transparent, with subtle colors radiating outward in countless directions — crystal. During the 1985-86 school year, we recognized the fifteenth year of H-M's existence — a banner year of limitless possibilities.

The seniors awaited graduation with anticipation and impatience. The juniors found innumerable doors open to them as they began to explore their future. While the sophomores left their own clear-cut mark on the entire school, the freshmen spent the year searching for their own clear identity.

Hidden in each of us was a desire to set individual goals and an attempt to realize those goals. As the year drew to a close, we all sensed a feeling of accomplishment. Without a doubt, our style and uniqueness shone brightly with a striking, incomparable, luminous clarity.

Summer Of '85 A Time To Remember

Summer fun, we'll never forget.
It was a time we won't ever regret.
It came quickly - too quickly it went.
With three months freedom in our hands,
Nobody worried about any demands.
Long days filled with beaches and sun.
All we had was fun, fun, fun.

The Band Follows Westward Ho

"If you're happy and you know it clap your hands," sings Mr. Asenbrenner.

The journey began on May 30, 1985. It was the last day of school and the first day of the annual band trip for band members, flagline, Pioneer Performers, faculty, and a few parents. They boarded the buses at 5 p.m. and began the journey westward with key stops in Salt Lake City and Reno, where food, games, swimming, and showers were available. The next stop was San Francisco, where the band trippers had free time to tour Chinatown, shop on the wharf, visit Alcatraz, or ride in a trolley. However, the Pioneer performance on the famous Pier 39 was a must for all members of the group. In Los Angeles, the group stopped at Great America for a performance, then travelled to Knott's Berry Farm for a day of rest and relaxation. A performance and an action-packed day at Disneyland were the highlights of the trip for many, but the day spent at the beach and the toga party are still fresh in people's minds. After touring NBC and Universal Studios, the group packed up and headed home with their sunburns and souvenirs, hoping never to forget the friends, memories, and fun of the trip west.

Bill and Julie wait to be discovered at Universal Studios.

The band performs at L.A. City Center.

"ANNIE"

Warbucks (Pat Mogren) and Grace (Debbie Olson) believe Annie (Jenny Schwietz). "Just thinking about tomorrow clears away the cobwebs and the sorrow"

"Annie," the sixth annual alumni/faculty/parent show, left no one disappointed as the stage was filled with familiar faces and songs such as "Tomorrow," "Easy Street," and "It's the Hard Knock Life."

Alumni playing leads included Pat Mogren as wealthy Daddy Warbucks, and the versatile Denise Zell as the zany Miss Hannigan.

Dave Pritschet portrayed the devious Rooster and Carol Erickson played his girlfriend Lily. Debbie Olson played Daddy Warbucks' secretary Grace.

Faculty/Staff members also joined the act. Playing supporting roles were Yvonne McComber, Sam Simmons, Mark Hoffland, Terry Wolter and Teri Simpkins.

Representing parents were Pat Schwietz, Chuck McBride, Kathy Tako and Lynn Paulson, who played Hooverville residents and Warbucks' servants.

Jenny Schwietz gave a colorful performance as the outgoing Annie. Also stealing the show were orphans Peggy Asenbrenner, Jenny Vail, Aimee Petra, Julie Tako, Shannon McBride, Jennifer Paulson, Tina Gryskiewicz, Rochelle Ros-

With Mark Paulson as director, Mark Hoffland as assistant director and Frank Asenbrenner directing the orchestra, it wasn't surprising "Annie" was the first Sunday matinee to play before a sell-out crowd.

A SMASHING SUCCESS

Orphans Tessie (Julie Tako) and Kate (Shannon McBride) agree, "It's The Hard Knock Life."

Annie, "You Won't Be An Orphan For Long," sing Grace (Debbie Olson) and Daddy Warbucks (Pat Mogren).

Miss Hannigan (Denise Zell) has little time for "Little Girls."

The scheming Rooster (Dave Pritschet) and Lily (Carol Erickson) make plans for "Easy Street."

Homecoming '85

Homecoming is a special time at all schools. At H-M, however, it's also a time to show school spirit-dressing in green -n- gold, going to the Homecoming games, creating posters, or gathering wood for the bonfire.

Homecoming week began on October 6, with flag football organized by Patty Evans. Bruises and scratches resulted from the games, but the winners triumphed. Denis Tri and his friends spent a whole evening gathering wood for the bonfire, held that night.

Throughout the week, activities were planned by the Student Council. One activity really stood out — Green-n-Gold Day.

Excitement swept through the halls, filling classrooms with noise, talk and impatience. Everyone waited for the pep rally and coronation. Barb Petersen and Carla Jones organized the pep rally and coronation. Cheers, screams and applause filled the fieldhouse as it began. The teachers performed a skit depicting football players and the referees, "at their best." By the end of the skit, Pioneer spirit was totally out of control.

Halfway through the pep rally, the lights grew dim and soft music could be heard throughout the gym. Steve Frazer and Julie Garofalo introduced the royalty. The poised candidates proceeded before the audience.

This colorful Tuesday came to an end with the crowning of the king and queen, Steve Stuber and Angie Meirick.

The tempo slowed down for the rest of the week, but peaked again on Friday night at the mixer, organized by Gina Valento. Once again, people waited outside the doors, hoping someone would let them inside. They didn't succeed.

On October 12, H-M Homecoming concluded with the Semi-formal, planned by Jeff Gibbons. Many couples attended.

For one-quarter of H-M students, this was their last Homecoming. The seven days of Homecoming left many memories for all. Most will say they were simply ...

... the best.

"The Man Who Came To Dinner"

"The Man Who Came to Dinner," the Hill-Murray Theatre Department's third production of the season, ran for one weekend in November.

The Moss Hart/George S. Kaufman comedy was first produced on Broadway in 1939. The play's main character, Sheridan Whiteside, was modeled on the authors' friend, Alexander Woollcott, a famous writer and raconteur. Eventually, Woollcott played Whiteside in a West Coast production. The play's nationwide success was confirmed when the entire cast was invited to a White House reception by the Roosevelts — President Franklin Delano and First Lady Eleanor.

As the play begins, Whiteside (Dan Doerrer) breaks his hip while a dinner guest at the home of Ernest and Daisy Stanley (Dave Schwietz and Julia Schrenkler). Confined to their home for six weeks, he proceeds to turn the entire household upside down with his antics. Whiteside invites ex-convicts to meals and runs up a huge phone bill calling his friends overseas. These friends send him unusual get-well gifts — penguins, and octopus and 10,000 cockroaches.

To further complicate matters, Whiteside's secretary Maggie (Jenni Hafner) falls in love with the local reporter Bert Jefferson (Kurt Schmidt). Crafty Whiteside summons glamorous actress Lorraine Sheldon (Christy Ries) to win Bert away from Maggie. In return, Maggie, with the aid of a clever impersonator, tells Whiteside an English lord, whom Lorraine hopes to marry, has proposed to her instead. The revengeful Lorraine suggests she and Bert spend three weeks in upstate New York rewriting Bert's play.

In a frantic attempt to get rid of Lorraine, the inventive Whiteside tricks her into stepping into another of his gifts — a mummy case. He blackmails his hosts into sending the case to the airport and Lorraine on a round-the-world cruise.

Finally, just as the triumphant Whiteside is about to leave the Stanleys' home, he slips and falls again!

Cast member Julia Schrenkler said she was proud of the production, directed by Mark Hoffland. She added the cast had a lot of fun and grew professionally during the show's run.

Is there another fall in my future? asks Whiteside (Dan Doerrer).

But, Mummy, a round-the-world trip isn't on my Christmas list, protests Lorraine Sheldon (Christy Ries).

Little Things Mean A Lot

The Bloodmobile occurs twice a year. Each time students have to meet certain requirements. The person has to be sixteen years old and weigh at least 110 pounds. After the qualifications are met, it is up to the person to work up the courage to donate blood.

"Mr. Ries ... it'll be okay! I'll be right by your side. I'll never leave you."

Tracy and Brooke find out it wasn't so bad after all.

"What is she sticking in my arm now?" thinks Dan Henschell.

Karen questions, "How much blood are you going to take out?"

"If there's no feeling left, is something wrong?" Terri wonders.

1985 Fall Festival

The 1985 Fall Festival was full of surprises and new twists for everyone. For the freshmen, just the idea of having to sell raffle tickets was unbelievable, but as a class, they managed to sell 115% of their quota. Advisory 121 set the example for all freshmen to follow and easily won the prize for top freshmen advisory by selling 154%.

Mr. Menge's advisory surpassed all other sophomores with an outstanding 161%, and won the prize for top sophomore homeroom. The entire sophomore class managed to sell 124% of their goal.

The top junior homeroom was driven to success by a challenge from the top senior homeroom. Mr. Conway's energetic advisory won the bet with Mr. Wold's class, and even shared their prize of 38 dozen donuts with other advisories. 173% was the magic number that beat all other homerooms and helped advisory 212 win 50% to buy more donuts.

The senior class came in second place overall with 123% of their quota. The top senior advisory, 215, ran a close race all throughout the raffle sales with Mr. Conway's class. Even at the end of the sales, they had to compete with advisory 119 for first place senior homeroom. 2% was all that kept the two top selling homerooms apart, and helped Mr. Wold and his super sellers win the $50 prize.

A major difference between the 1985 Fall Festival and previous ones was the absence of Brother Martin Sellner and his incredible selling abilities. Although we missed him, and his help and support, other teachers went out of their way to help make up for Brother's absence. Mr. Zawada sold an incredible 1050 tickets, and Mr. Smith did an outstanding job of selling 350 tickets.

Mary Dojnik's motto is service with a smile.

Mya Whitmore shares her excitement of winning the car.

Mr. Grau soaks in all the attention.

The top student sellers also put a lot of time and effort to help raise money for the school. Senior Barb Petersen was the top seller again this year with $706 and won a color TV. Junior Becky Caulfield earned herself a 10-speed bike for coming in second place with $377. Jim Carrier also won a bike for his third place position with $288. Joe Hangge came in a close fourth place with $275 and won a black and white TV.

Three people who will fondly remember the 1985 Fall Festival are Sandy Whitmore, winner of the car; Dick Klotz, winner of the TV, and Jean Jasicki, winner of the microwave. With the help of these people and countless others, the 1985 Fall Festival was a complete success. Everyone enjoyed a free day for reaching our goal of 100%.

A CHRISTMAS MUSICAL

Above: Scrooge discusses salaries with his employees.

Left: The Spirit of Christmas Past (Lynn Roppeau) reminds Scrooge (Phil McCauley) of happier Christmases.

Scrooge and Tiny Tim (Scott Schwietz) believe in Christmas miracles.

"Scrooge," a musical adaptation of Charles Dickens' Christmas Carol, was the Theatre Department's holiday gift to audiences of all ages.

Cast members who performed the magic of Scrooge's transformation from a miser into a magnanimous man included: H-M parent Phil McCauley (Scrooge); Assistant Theatre director Mark Hoffland (Scrooge's nephew Fred); teacher Ray Zawada (Fezziwig); alumni Dave Micko (Bob Cratchit); Dave Pritschet (the Spirit of Christmas Present) and Debbie Olson (Mrs. Filcher).

H-M students in leading roles were Dave Kuta, Tom Supinski and Lino Rulli as Scrooge's employees; Dan Doerrer, Marley's Ghost; Lynn Roppeau and Shellie Schaffer as the Spirits of Christmas Past and Future. Scott Schwietz as Tiny Tim and Jennifer Paulson and Peggy Asenbrenner as Cratchit's daughters were among the elementary students in the production.

As in all Paulson productions, "Scrooge" sets and special effects were spectacular. However, at the opening performance, one effect misfired. Only the stage crew knew Technical director Hoffland landed backstage while trying unsuccessfully to make the Spirit of Christmas Present fly onstage. In succeeding shows, the spirit soared!

In his program note, Director Mark Paulson wrote:

"Doing a major musical production at this time of year is a new and ambitious undertaking for us. Assembling a cast composed of adults, alumni, high school and elementary students is another new venture. And trying to get it all together in just four short weeks might be considered by some to be insanity . . . I call it a challenge.

There isn't anyone listed in this program who hasn't met that challenge and made some effort or some sacrifice beyond the ordinary to see that this project would be a success.

One example, among all the rest, stands out in my mind. A cast member told me one evening that she had spent her Christmas gift money on dinner so that she could stay and help get the set and props finished. I knew at that moment that our show was going to be everything we'd hoped it would.

Yes, Tiny Tim, miracles do still happen at Christmas!"

Scrooge is "born again" on Christmas morning.

Cratchit (Dave Micko) wishes his friends a Merry Christmas.

Seniors Play Santa

Bill takes time out from toying with tanks to take out a tiny sliver.

"If all else fails, read the directions," explains Bill's helper.

Kelly, Jim and guest look around to see if anyone is having as much fun as they are.

The lower gym buzzes with excitement as seniors and friends eat, drink, and are merry.

Do Cabbage Patch Dolls, Transformers, Rainbow Brites, and GoBots sound familiar? These are some of the most popular toys that Senior Santas gave their guests from Franklin Elementary School at the Senior Christmas Party. The kids came to Hill Murray with high hopes for a fun-filled afternoon on December 11 for the annual Christmas Party. Senior class advisor Paul Hemmelgarn and Senior class officers planned the 16th annual party and with help from the cast and crew of the musical "Scrooge," the Franklin students enjoyed a fine performance and an enjoyable afternoon.

After seeing the musical, the seniors met their guests and they all went downstairs to a lunch consisting of hot dogs, chips, cookies and milk prepared and served by some energetic and helpful juniors. The seniors were rewarded for their efforts and preparations by the smiles on the faces of their guests and by thank-you letters that they later received.

Mr. Asenbrenner welcomes Franklin students.

H-M Hosts One Act Play Contest

The Hill-Murray Theatre Department hosted a 4AA preliminary regional one-act play contest in January. Hill-Murray, Centennial, Anoka, Stillwater, and Forest Lake high schools each presented a 35-minute play.

H-M's contest entry was "Shadowbox" by Michael Christofer. The play focuses on two terminally ill people who come to terms with their impending death and its subsequent effect on their families.

The cast included Monica Rangitsch as Agnes; Christy Ries as Maggie; Kurt Schmidt as Joe; Julie Thompson as Felicity; Pat Cain as the Interviewer, and Lino Rulli as Steve. Director Mark Hoffland was assisted by theatre student Tom Supinski.

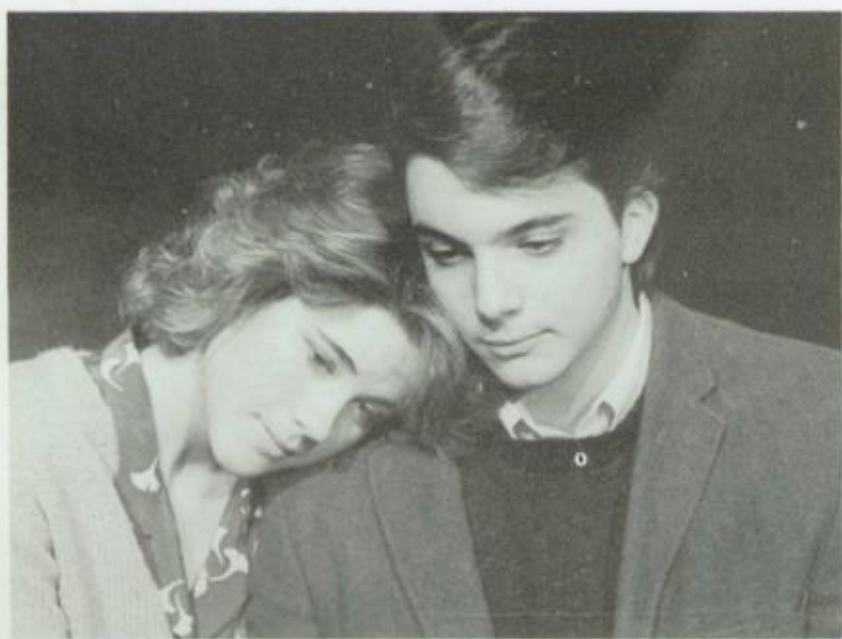

Even though Hill-Murray's entry was not chosen to advance to regional finals, Theatre Director Mark Paulson said the evening was very successful. He added, all of the participating schools remarked on the efficiency of contest organization and the helpfulness of H-M students.

Coleman, Wold Entertain at Banquet

The fifteenth annual Hill-Murray Father-Son Banquet attracted a crowd of over 300 in February. The lasagna/roast beef dinner, catered by Maxine Johnson, was served by Mothers' Club members. Following dinner, fathers and sons were entertained by the Pioneer Performers with a medley from "They're Playing Our Song," "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy" and "Java Jive."

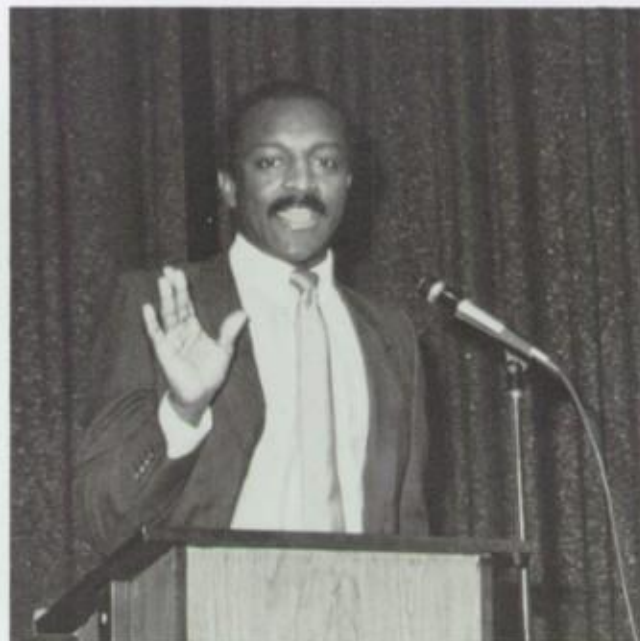

Greg Coleman, Minnesota Vikings punter, was the featured speaker. Coleman spoke about his desire to be a punter, how he bounced around the NFL and finally found a spot on the Vikings roster.

As he watched the Vikings and Rams collide on T.V. one Sunday, he prayed, "Lord, I'll even kick for the Vikings." The next morning, Vikings management contacted Coleman and he's been the Vikings punter since.

Bill Wold was his usual witty self. Wold predicted that Ferdinand Marcos would be brought to St. Paul to help count votes for the proposed city conference realignment. (Future realignment plans will probably exclude Hill-Murray and St. Thomas Academy from the St. Paul conference.)

Paul Schiminsky and Dad Dave enjoy the lasagna/roast beef dinner.

Greg Coleman says, "And then the Refrigerator came charging towards me!"

Tim and Rich Wessels are about to start pounding on the table. "We want food, we want food!"

Bill Wold flashes his famous clenched-teeth smile.

Slipping Through Sno-Daze

1986 Sno-Daze week, planned by the band, began with the volleyball tournament on Monday night. A new twist was added this year. The winning Freshmen/Sophomore team, Silver Bullets, and the winning Junior/Senior team, Gulden's Good Ones, played against the faculty. The Freshmen/Sophomore team put up a good fight, but couldn't quite overpower the ferocious faculty. The Junior/Senior division easily dominated the game and showed the teachers who truly had control of the court.

As the week progressed, activities included Green-n-Gold day, dress-up day, a pep rally supporting H-M winter sport teams, and the long-awaited talent show and coronation, emceed by Barb Petersen and Jason Delmont.

The winners of the talent show included the rock band Marauder, dancer Chris Hawkins and guitarist Terry Schubring.

On Thursday evening, Seniors Tray Tuomie and Amy Wilson were crowned Sno-Daze King and Queen. Other members of the royal court were Juniors Steve Tomas and Maria Ryan; Sophomores Trisha Tuomie and Paul Dinzeo, and Freshmen Dave Muetzel and Sue Stuber.

Sno-Daze week ended with Joe Gockowski and Tim Schwartz finding the medallion under the Aldrich Arena Sign on Friday, a record dance that night, and a closing Semi-Formal on Saturday night.

Case in Point: FIDO

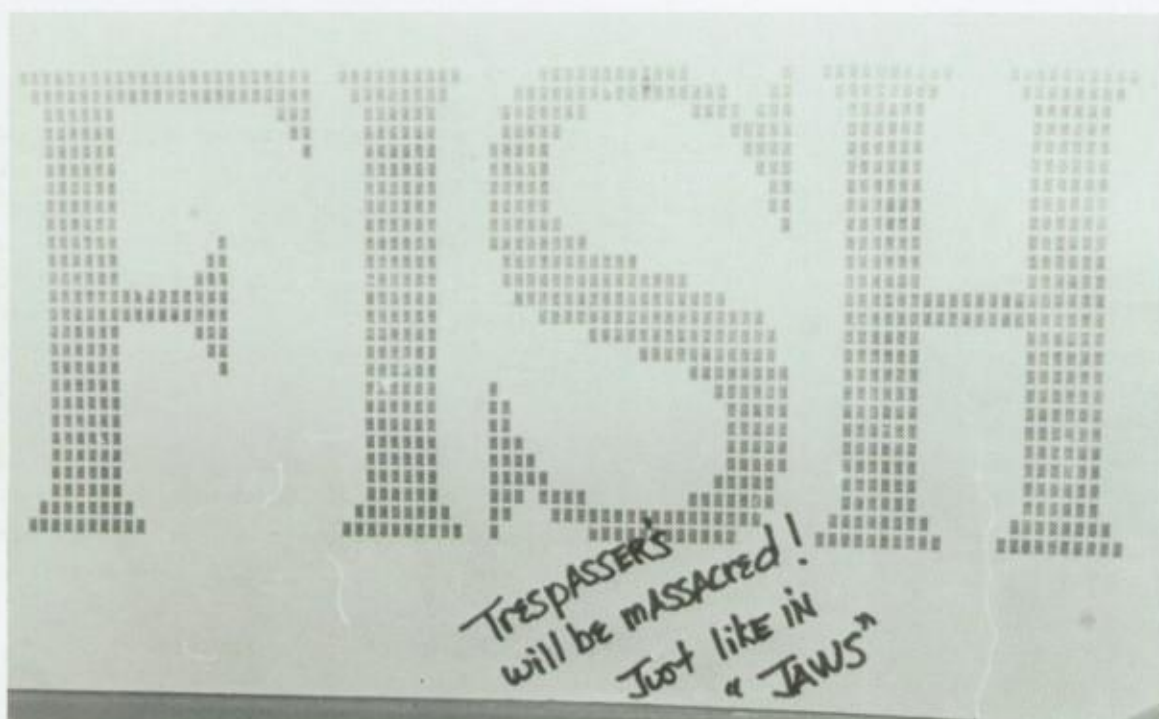

Fido belongs to Denis Tri and Jon Ricci. While decorating their locker, they decided that something was missing. It needed life. Somehow the pictures of girls in bathing suits, football players, and novelty signs weren't quite adequate. Then, Denis met Fido at Frisky's pet store. It was love at first sight, especially since he was free. Denis took Fido home to A-205, top shelf. Now their locker had everything, including a goldfish.

In the short time they've been together, the three have become best friends. Everytime Jon opens the locker, he is greeted by a smiling fish. Would they consider replacing Fido should he go to the big Fishbowl in the sky? Jon replied, "No one could replace Fido. We might get another, but no one could replace him." Denis nodded and agreed, "He's our best friend."

EDITOR'S NOTE: Well, three days after this interview, Fido was brutally murdered. The murderer's name is being withheld due to the fact that he is not of legal age. Jon and Denis plan on getting another fish. Will he take the place of Fido in their hearts? No matter, this time their threat (below) will be enforced.

A little domestic touch can make any locker feel like home.

"When do I get to feed him?" Jon asks.

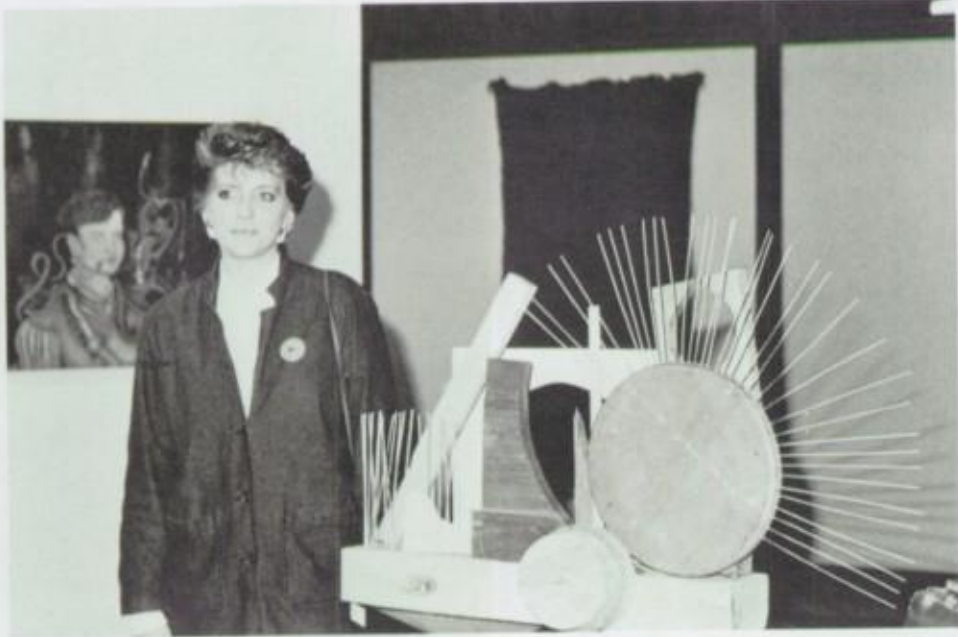

"I think he's partying!" Denis shows Jon.

H-M Art Students Strut Their Stuff

The 1985 Art Show and all-day workshop was held at River Falls, February 3-14. The HM students who participated in the show were Janelle Zachman, Ann Caven, Mike LaVaque, Lisa Beigle, Jenny Kreiglmeier, Dave Cartier, John Mogren, Jim Landry and Patty Caven.

The River Falls Art Exhibit, the March Macalester College Best 100, and the Hill-Murray Senior Art Show gave students opportunities to demonstrate their artistic talents.

Last year Mr. Holbach was selected as Teacher of the Year. He urges students to do the best they can. He wants them to tease him and write jokes and poems about him in their vocabulary sentences. This is a challenge to most. Students try to be the most creative in their teasing. Those who do tease him take a chance of getting teased back - twice as much.

Rocks From Where?

Miss Brown received moon rock samples on loan from NASA half way through the school year. Strict regulations for application and security were very important. Miss Brown signed papers stating that she understood all instructions.

Her students were then allowed to study and observe the samples. For one week, they learned about the moon, its characteristics, and the people who have traveled there.

Current Events . . .

Bruce Springsteen is "Born in the U.S.A."

Terrorists threaten to kill hostages if their demands are not met.

The current events of the past ten months have ranged from jubilant to sorrowful, from good to bad. On the world events scene, a disputed presidential election was held in the Philippines. The candidates were current President Ferdinand Marcos and Corazon Aquino, the wife of slain president, Benigno Aquino, Jr. Marcos was named president amid charges of fraud. Because of the violence and unrest among the people, Marcos fled the country four days later. "Cory" Aquino was then inaugurated as president. Last fall, an effort at world peace was sought by President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev when the two met at a summit in Geneva. Terrorism escalated this past year with a hijacking in Rome and bombing in public areas of Paris. Space and science enthusiasts brought out their telescopes to catch a glimpse of Halley's Comet which made its first appearance since 1910. Growing concern and help for the poor came with two outdoor musical concerts this year. Live Aid, which took place on the continents of North America and Europe, was a world-wide effort of the biggest names in the music business to raise money for the starving people in Africa. Farm Aid, a concert performed by American recording artists, was to aid the bankrupt farmers of this nation.

On the national scene, the entire world was shocked by the explosion of the space shuttle, Challenger, on January 28th. The tragedy took the lives of all seven crew members on board. Those who died were Francis Scobee, Michael Smith, Ronald McNair, Ellison Onizuka, Gregory B. Jarvis, Judith A. Resnick, and Christa McAuliffe, a teacher from Connecticut. Consumers were offered the new Coke this year, but after a flood of letters protesting the retraction of old Coke, cola drinkers were rewarded with Coca-Cola Classic, which uses the same formula as the original Coke.

On the local scene, in August, 1,450 workers at the Hormel meatprocessing plant in Austin, Minnesota went on strike. In January, the National Guard was called to maintain order as violence broke out. The plant hired workers to replace the strikers. Mary Lund became the first female artificial heart recipient in December. Forty-five days later, she received a human heart transplant. Minnesota and the nation were enchanted by the 128-foot high Ice Palace, located on Lake Phalen. Workers used 30,000 blocks of ice, weighing 400 pounds each, to build the magnificent, lighted castle which commemorated the 100th year of the St. Paul Winter Carnival.

On the entertainment scene, people watched t.v. shows such as "The Cosby Show" and "Miami Vice." They flocked to movie theatres to see "Rambo, First Blood, Part II" and "Back to the Future." Bruce Springsteen performed to sold-out stadiums and concert halls all over the world.

People observed events of the world, nation, and state this year. With the help of newspapers and television journalists, everyone could be "on the scene" to view the action.

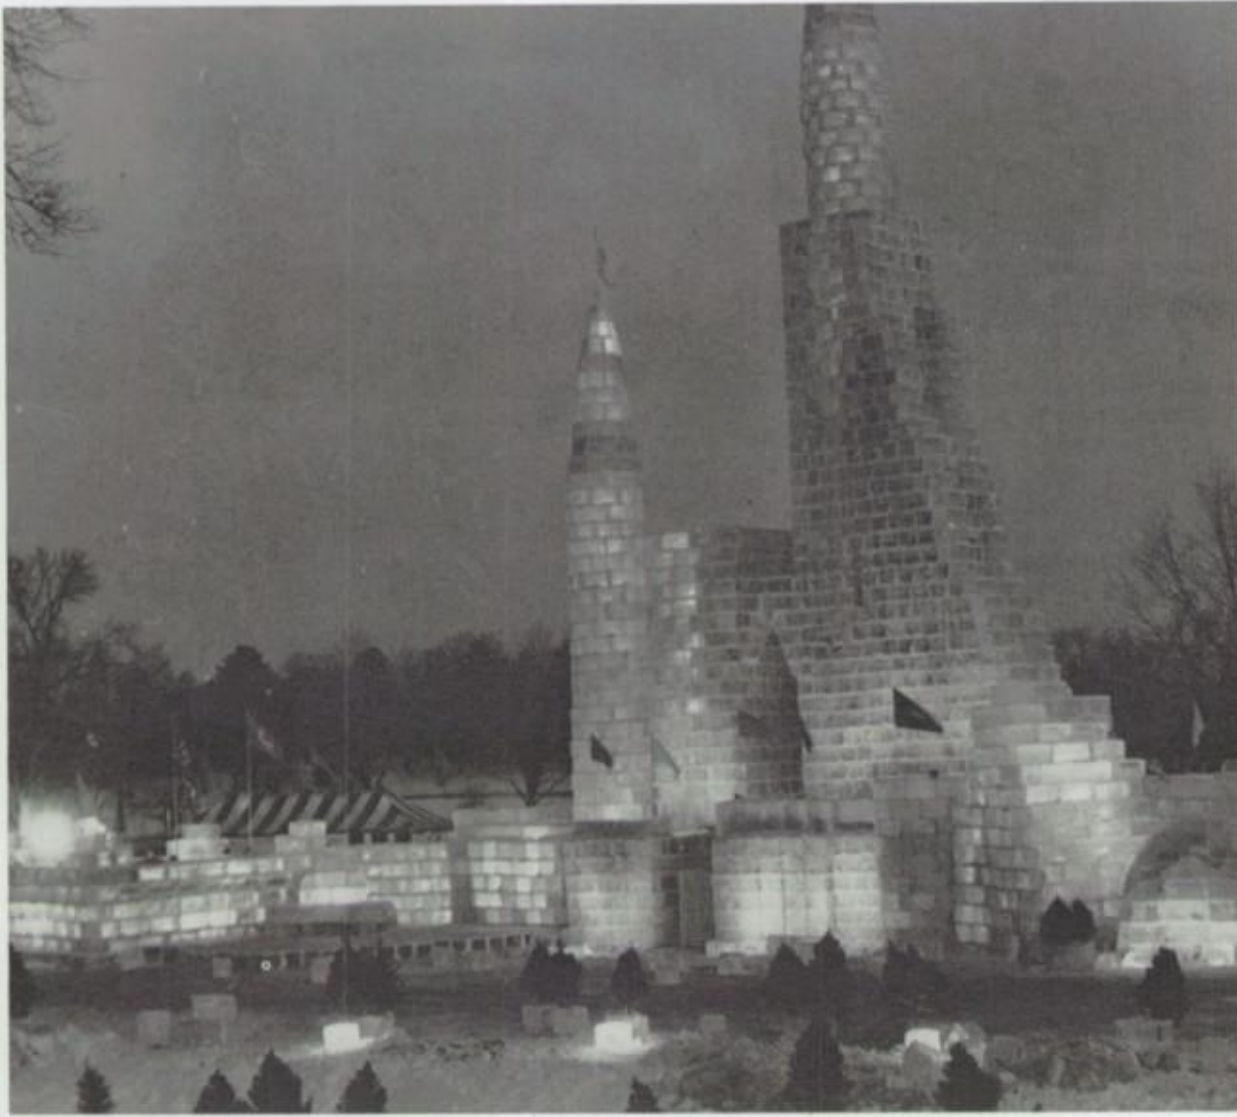

Halley's Comet blazed into view for the first time since 1910.

Student Council Working Together

Freshmen orientation, Homecoming pep rally, mixer, tournament and dress up day are activities that are very familiar to Hill-Murray students and are sponsored by the Student Council. The 1985-86 Student Council is comprised of Miss Brown, Advisor, John Schweitz, President, Julie Garofalo, Vice President, Julie Lambert, Secretary, Steve Frazer, Treasurer and class officers. Together, they encourage many students to participate in school and class events. The Council tries to make Hill a better school for the students. The Student Council succeeded in changing the "sleeve" rule, helped to fill Oakdale, West St. Paul, and Hibbing community food shelves at Thanksgiving time. Later in the school year, the Council sponsored Spring Days, and worked on a second Bloodmobile. Dedicated Student Council Representatives worked behind the scenes all year long.

Writing about any topic from suicide to "freshman phobias" is what the Hill-Murray Horizon newspaper reports. Led by editor Andrea Pizinger, advisor Mrs. Mary Meyer and a very creative staff, they report what's happening in H-M's world. In order to produce ten issues a year, the staff often works after school, gathering the necessary information for articles, conducting interviews, taking pictures and finding advertisers. Editorials included articles on day-to-day problems such as jobs, trimester changes, and the deficiency system. The Sports Report, written by Jenny Pizinger and Jane Schoelch, keeps everyone up to date on how all Pioneer teams are doing, recent tournaments, outstanding players and comments by players or coaches. This year the Horizon initiated the PionEar, which is written each issue by a different member of the staff. The PionEar reports Hill Murray happenings, including teacher, student and alumni news.

"The story is due now!!" according to Andrea.

The Horizon staff goes on another reporting excursion.

Omega Dives Into

Mari and Donna show what really goes on in the darkroom.

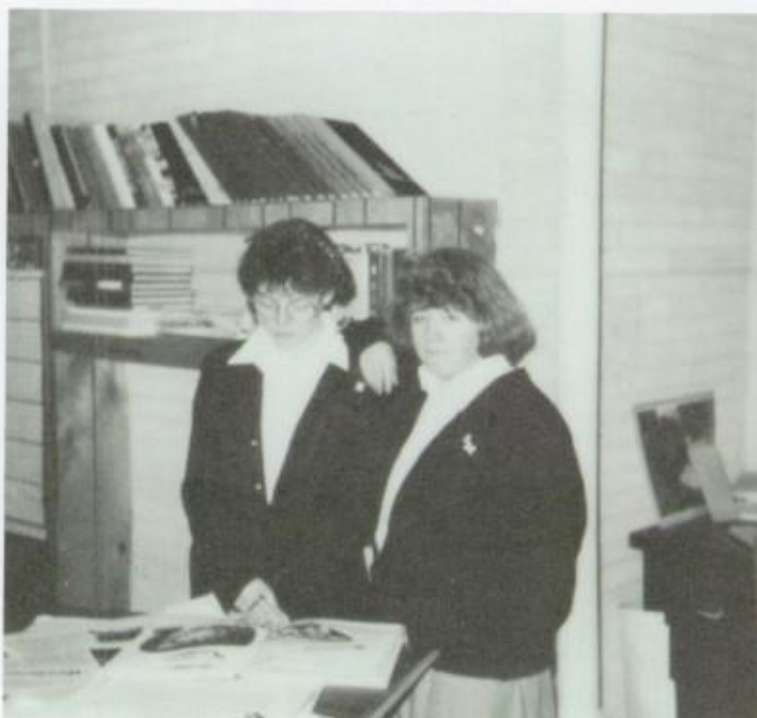

Julie and Julie find their work amusing.

The beginning of this school year brought about many changes for the Omega Staff. There were two major changes. First, the school returned to distributing the book in the spring, and second, at the beginning of the year, Mrs. Meyer became the new advisor.

During the last two years, the yearbook has been published in the fall. Publishing it in the spring brought many changes. With only four members returning from the previous year's staff, many basics had to be learned by all the new faces. Members had to learn what a layout was, and how to draw up a layout. Assignments were handed out, pictures needed to be taken, and articles had to be written. The list went on and on. At times, it seemed as if the work would never end. Deadlines seemed to come and go with barely any time in between. The staff worked long and hard to reach the deadline dates. Sometimes it didn't seem like it was all worth it, but once the yearbook was printed everyone knew they had accomplished something impressive.

The work wasn't done when layouts were finished, for they had to be proofread and each mistake corrected. A few weeks after the pages were sent to the plant, the proofs were returned. They required additional hours of proofreading and correcting.

When all the layouts and proofs went to the plant for the last time, the staff rejoiced as most of the work was done. Only one job remained—to pass out the books to students after they finally arrived.

Patty and Jenny find their deadline to be a lip-biting situation.

"What have we done now?" think Kristen and Nikki.

Hola, Bonjour, Gutentag

The foreign language clubs offer another chance for students to become involved in an area they enjoy. By joining a club, students meet many new friends and have a lot of fun.

Students raise money throughout the year by selling chocolate, gummi bears, and fruit. The money can be used for many different causes. It is used to obtain lower rates when the club goes out to eat or if they have a party. Many students choose to put their money toward the trip to Mexico or Europe.

This year, a trip is planned to both Europe and Mexico. Over 50 students are planning to tour Europe as a group this summer. They will travel through Austria, France, Switzerland, Germany, Spain, Liechtenstein, and Monaco. The trip will last for approximately one month. Many other students have chosen to retreat to Mexico over Easter break. These students will divide their time between Acapulco and Guadalajara.

Six foreign exchange students became a part of the Hill-Murray student body this year. Other students had a chance to get a feel for foreign tastes and lifestyles.

The group leaders who advise and organize the clubs and their activities are Miss Sandberg-French ; Miss Gjerdrum and Miss Winter-German; Mrs. Busch and Mrs. McKeown-Spanish.

School Board

The school board consists of ten members. It has final authority on school policies. It appoints administration and approves administrative recommendations regarding staff. Also, the board has many financial responsibilities including salaries. Its decisions are in our best interest. The school board is doing a fine job and receives very little appreciation, so let's be thankful for our school board.

Parent Clubs

Parent clubs provide a way for parents to associate with one another. They work closely with the school board in determining policies. Mothers and fathers raise funds for various projects.

The Mothers Club sponsors several booths at Fall Festival, for example the Green and White booth and Trash and Treasures. They also are in charge of refreshments for the eighth grade open house and many other activities. A major fund raiser is the Spring Style Show.

Proceeds from the Fathers Club Lucky Green Dinner go toward family scholarships. The club also bought classroom supplies such as computers and financed building improvements.

There are just a few of the activities sponsored by the parents clubs. This voluntarism is one more reason Hill-Murray is a success.

Trivia Buffs Wrap Up Fifteenth Year

The Hill-Murray Quiz Bowl Team, in its fifteenth year under coach Jack Kight, completed its season with a 5-2 record, and placed third in the Division A league.

The Quiz Bowl season extended from November through February with playoffs in March. Then, the team participated in a 16-school tournament in Apple Valley and completed with 24 teams in a two-day tournament at the University of Minnesota in April.

Quiz Bowl starters were Captain Jeff Petrin, Laura Richelsen and Tom Zarembo, all seniors, and junior Mike Appleton. Alternates were juniors Eric Bjurstrom, Chris Eggert and Ted Hajek.

The team practiced once every other week for one-and-one half hour sessions. At practices, Kight asked each team member an average of 70 questions. Over the years, Kight has gathered 18 to 20 thousand questions to test team members.

Matches, moderated by Roy Finden, were broadcast from KBEM-FM radio, headquartered at Mpls. North High School.

This year, several of the team matches were also featured on Group W Cable Channel 19. Besides becoming "T.V." stars, the team won a closely contested match over a faculty team during Sno-Daze.

Driver's Ed

The inexperienced driver sits behind the wheel of the car. A million questions race through his mind. Did I check the oil? Is the transmission fluid adequate? Have the tires been checked recently? Is there enough gas and windshield washer fluid?

The student driver slowly inches the car forward to the starting line. He can hear his heart beating furiously. His hands are beginning to sweat. He holds onto the steering wheel very tightly.

The driver forces himself to take a few deep breaths to calm his frazzled nerves. The race is about to begin! He thinks all I have to do is keep my eyes on the road and be careful not to accelerate too fast.

Where might the driver have learned all this information? Driver's Education, of course! Driver's Ed is offered at H-M three times a year—in the fall, winter and spring.

The state requires 30 classroom hours and six hours behind-the-wheel training before a 16-year-old can attempt to pass a driver's test and receive a license.

The course focuses on learning how to operate a car, how to perform simple repairs, knowing traffic laws and following safety precautions whenever one is behind the wheel.

"Do we have to leave those signs attached?" Chuck Wald asks Mr. Mauer.

Chess Team Captures Conference Title

Ken Bowers makes his move.

The Hill-Murray Chess team, in its third year, captured the Northeast conference championship for the second year in a row. The team had a 9-1 conference record, only losing one match, 2-3, to Kellogg. Wins included matches with Centennial, St. Agnes, Ramsey and White Bear. In the Twin City High School Chess League playoffs, the team tied for sixth place.

Junior Tom McCarver became the first H-M chess player ever to win an outstanding player trophy for league play for his efforts on the first board. Senior Jon Hance and junior Mike Beck were honorable mention winners.

Coach Sam Simmons said he had his hands full this year, not only as coach of the H-M woodpushers, but also in his new position as Director of the Twin City High School Chess League. "It was a headache, but I feel it was worth it. More and more kids are getting involved in chess all over the Twin Cities," commented Coach Simmons.

Schussing The Slopes

At 4 p.m., bus after bus pulled into H-M's parking lot. 140 eager students stood in anticipation of the forthcoming event. What was all the commotion? It was just one of eight Tuesday Ski Club nights. From the guys showing off their skiing skills, to the girls in distress needing help on the slopes, the evenings proved to be most enjoyable. Mr. Warren Wessel led the skiers down the slopes of Wild Mountain and Afton Alps. Everyone had their share of ups and especially, downs. Some even preferred playing video games in the chalet. Returning to H-M at 10 p.m., the students were exhausted. The skiers were more willing to hit the sack rather than hit the books.

Campus Ministry

Takes a New Turn

Miss Klima and Mr. Ruhland's new office is just "coming out of the closet."

With the departure of Russ and Mary Schmidt, last year's co-ordinators of the campus ministry office, an important position at Hill-Murray, was left vacant. The office was empty at the beginning of the school year and throughout first trimester.

Second tri welcomed two new co-ordinators: Mr. Thomas Ruhland and Miss Vicki Klima. Both Mr. Ruhland and Miss Klima teach Religion at H-M. When they decided to plunge into the new position, both teachers decreased their teaching load from five to three classes to make the extra time required for their new jobs.

Some of us will remember that before the Schmidts officially came to us last year, Miss Klima and Mr. Ruhland were already performing a few campus ministry duties. Miss Klima was very involved with the planning and directing of liturgies and all school masses. She also sang and played the guitar during the liturgies. Mr. Ruhland took small groups of students on weekend retreats at various times during the year. He also generously gave his time and patience to kids who might have wanted to talk to someone.

Several responsibilities have been added to their job description. Along with her involvement in liturgies and masses, Miss Klima will take on the responsibility of the daily prayer intentions and providing advisory and special prayer opportunities to the students. Mr. Ruhland will be involved with the pastoral end of the office, but he will also be a link with other parish youth directors in the area.

Both Miss Klima and Mr. Ruhland are hoping to provide spiritual development for the staff and plan on researching possible speakers for school assemblies. They also want to work on a retreat program specially relevant to H-M and its staff and students.

The purpose and goal behind the office is to make H-M a more obvious Catholic, Christian high school by involving the students and staff in their faith in day to day life.

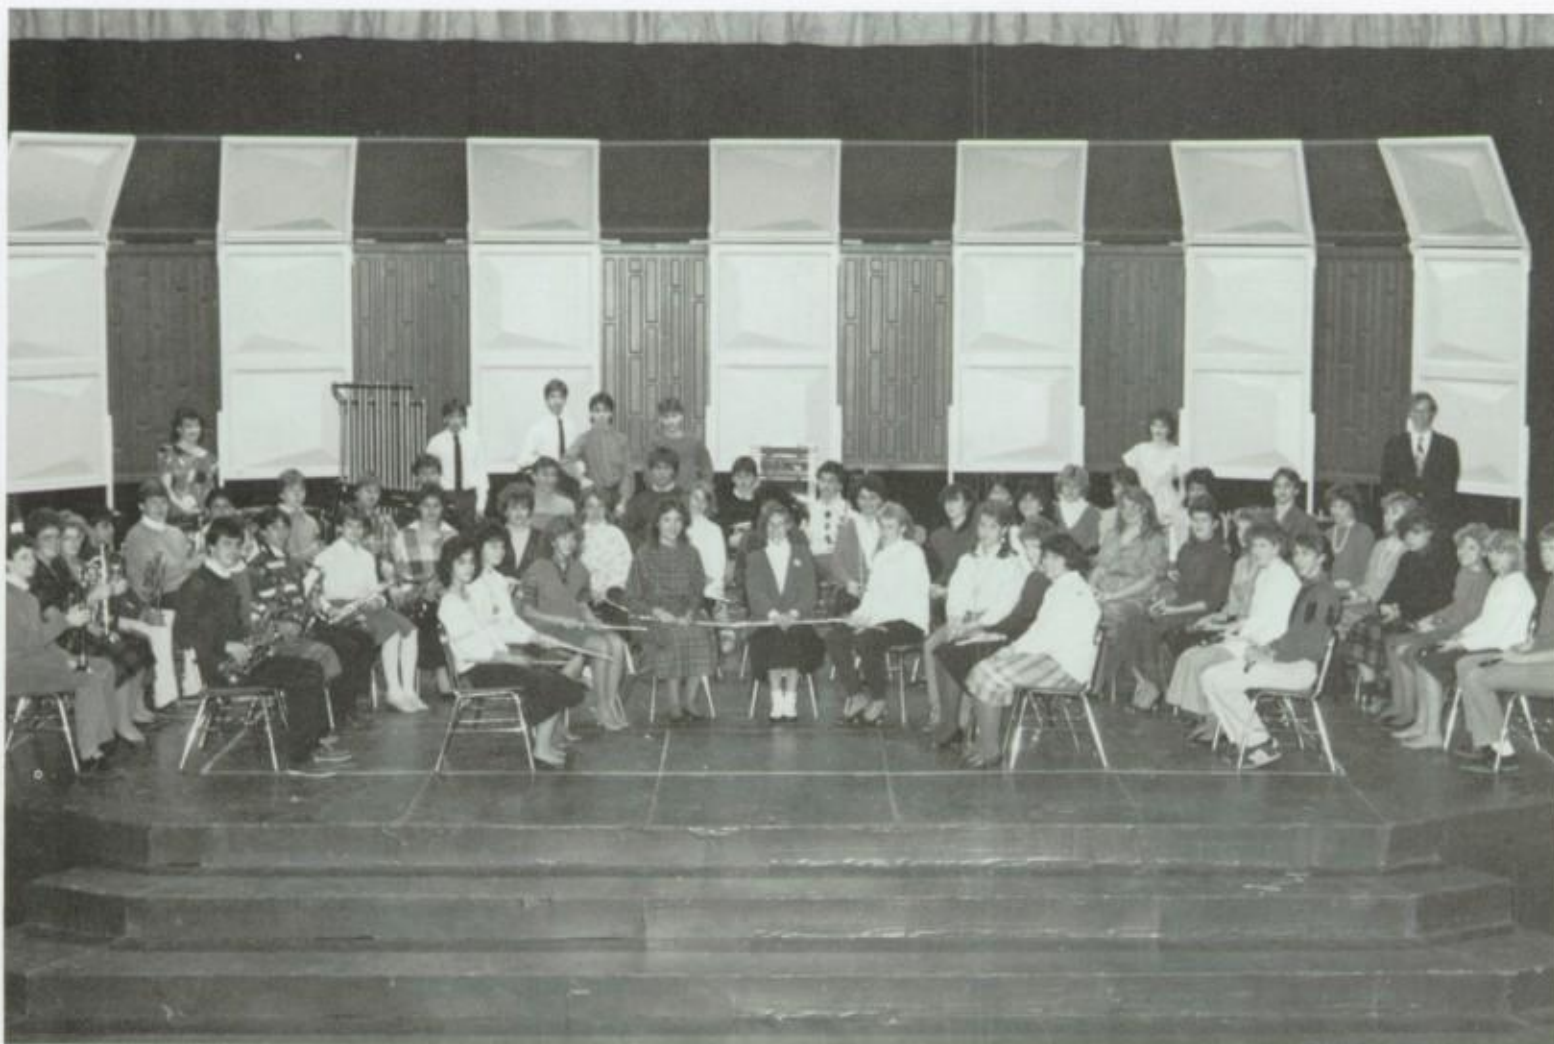

Say cheese, Fr. Jack.

Dancing The Day Away

Jennie demonstrates the ease of standing of one foot.

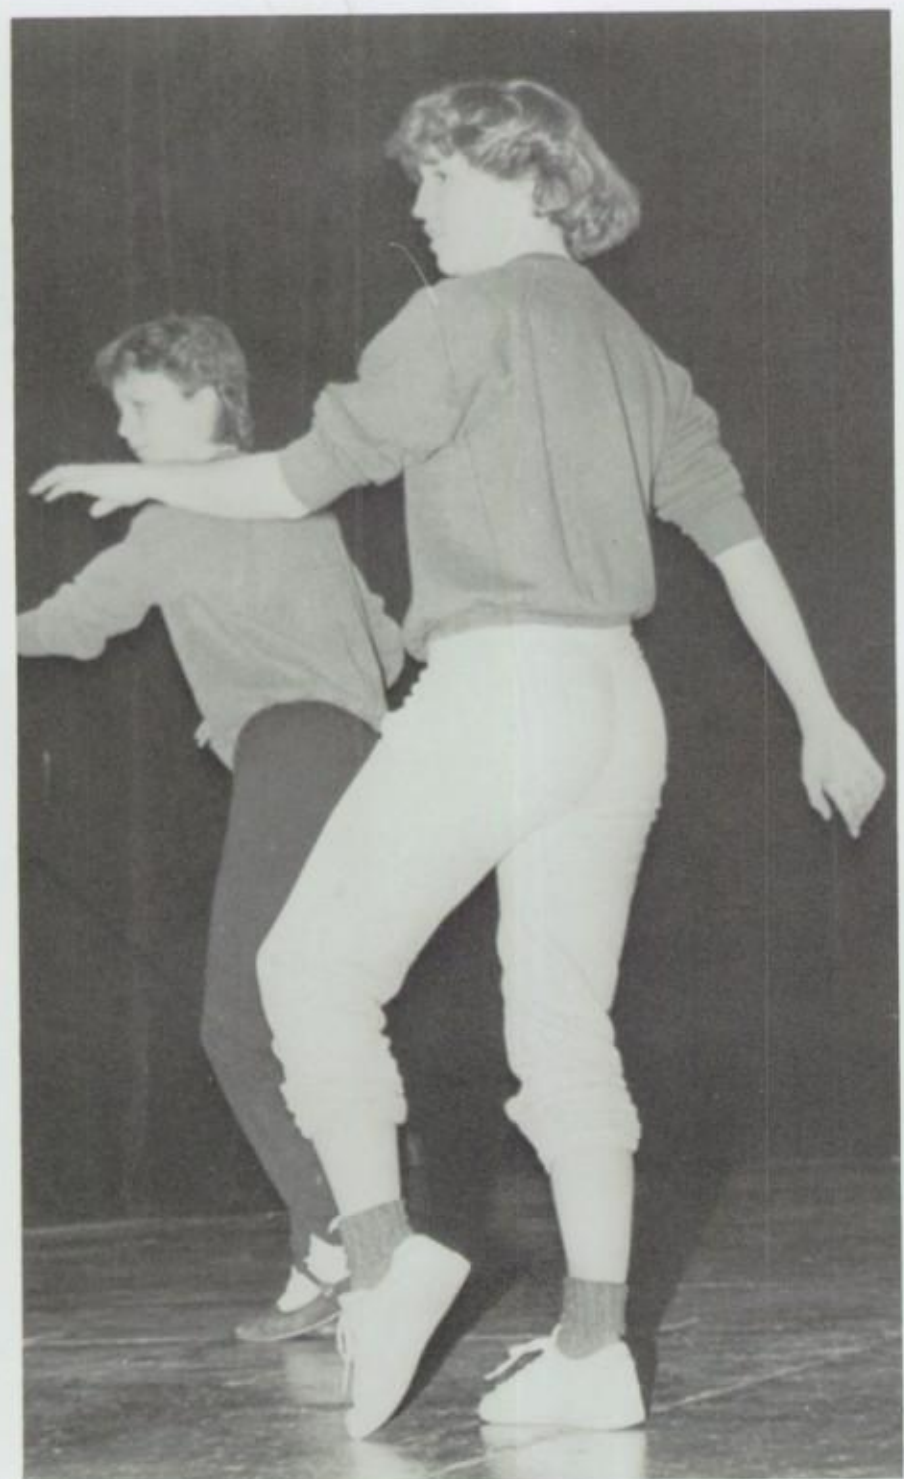

The Dance Class began its first practice last September under the direction of Rell Dean. The modern dance class met twice a week after school for two hours each session.

Five beginning students, Leanne Baumgarten, Shelly Bayne, Jeannie Kosel, Theresa Leko and Cindy Watters, practiced basic dance techniques and movement.

Dean has spent 15 years studying and performing modern dance. She has choreographed H-M musicals, "Barnum," "Annie," "Scrooge," and "Oklahoma." Dean said she feels dance is especially appropriate as a part of the Hill-Murray theatre department. Dance teaches aspiring actors and actresses how their bodies relate to space, helps expands imagination and is useful in developing characterization, according to Dean.

Dance Class members made their debut at the opening show cast reception of "Oklahoma" this spring. They performed "I'm My Own Walkman," a piece set to jazz music and choreographed by Director Dean.

Of her beginning modern dancers, Dean said they are "great to work with," have "learned so much" and have "come miles" since class began nine months ago.

The following poems were written by the Senior Creative Writing English classes. The course focuses on making students aware of their own creative abilities and talents. It seeks to make writing more enjoyable and not such a dreaded chore. All of the writings, which are scattered over the next few pages, were submitted to the Omega staff by the "authors and poets" themselves.

Loneliness

The house grows dark the little girl hides
under a deserted box.
A smile crosses her face, only to hide the tear that is creeping down her cheek
She glances up to the mirror, an image of
A solitary friend that slowly fades away
Her head bowed now to hide from the pieces of sky that might fall on her

Webs

A web is a paradox.
Webs are a home for some,
yet a trap for others.
Webs are easily broken,
yet are always rebuilt.
Webs are threads,
where some hang precariously
yet others walk with ease.
Webs are common,
yet each is complex and unique.
Webs are nature,
Webs are life,
Webs are us.

Julie and Spaz climb a gorge.

The Julie Sisters attempt to wash their hair!

Last summer, Brother Martin and three seniors, Chris Yelle, Julie Garofalo and Julie Mayers boarded four orange rafts that would carry them 226 miles through the Grand Canyon for 12 days. The temperature was close to 110° everyday. As they approached the first rapids, excitement grew and then, for some, turned to fear. They hurdled through 40 feet of heaving, rock-busting rapids. They slept swaddled in stars and sand. They bathed in the river, conversed with lizards, and broiled beneath the canyon sun. The four became a speck of humanity in a second of the earth's time. Day by day, their senses became razor sharp as they learned how to survive. By the end of the trip they became "white-water junkies" thirsting for the roar of a rapids and the thrill of a lifetime.

We are the awesome foursome!

All Drawing 1 students are required to endure the dreaded plant for a trimester week. During the course, they have to draw "the plant." This delicate yet complex plant is supposed to help them develop the right-side of the brain. Instead, for most, it causes feelings of confusion and frustration, locking both sides of their brain. The object of these exercises is to draw the outline of the plant, contour drawing and the negative or white space of the plant. The negative space drawing allows the drawer to look at his paper. In the contour drawing, the drawer cannot. Both drawings require the artist to draw what he/she sees, not what they want to see. Some students will master this skill and gain the friendship of the plant. For those who fail, the dreaded plant could entrap them once again.

Eyes shine
Greenish Grey like the sea in a storm
They are beautiful, and starlight is in them but, they are not perfect
Contacts mar their shine
They are piercing, but soft; gentle
They can tell honesty; or dishonesty at a single glance
Your eyes made ME see things
I saw things through your eyes
I saw things as you saw them
I had been blind
When I last looked into your eyes
They were brimmed over with tears
Remember, goodbye doesn't always mean forever
Your eyes are beautiful, do not fill them with tears rather; let them shine as best they can Shine eyes Shine . . .

-Paul Tocko

Discover your future in the CRC

Kellie walked into the Career Resource Center at the beginning of September. Interested in chemical engineering, she wanted to find U of M, UCLA and Notre Dame catalogues. CRC Coordinator Bryan Garry assisted her in finding the materials. She took the books home and put them in the bottom desk drawer.

Two months later, after 100 people asked where she planned to go to college, Kellie revisited the CRC and again consulted Mr. Garry. He suggested she use the computer to discover the right college for her. The computer listed her initial college choices. Also on the list was Carleton College in Northfield, Minnesota.

"Gee," Kellie thought, "I didn't know Carleton offered chemical engineering. It's a great college."

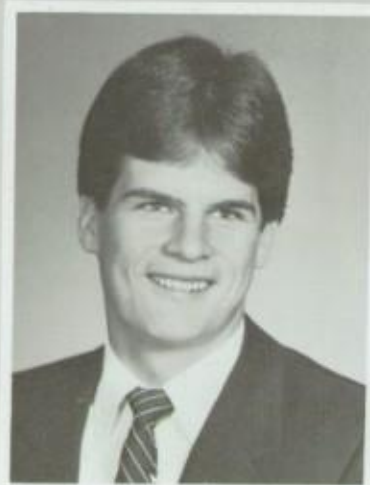

With her parents' approval, Kellie applied for admission to Carleton, wrote an essay and personal recommendations and sent them to Carleton.

One day in late December, Kellie received a letter from Carleton. Before she opened the letter, she wondered, "Am I accepted or rejected?" She opened the letter from the Admissions Director to discover she had been accepted.

Kellie shouted triumphantly and joyfully shared the good news with her parents. She knew CRC resources had helped her find the perfect college.

"College? Has Uncle Sam got a deal for you!"

Pletsch: Pioneer Style

Mix together a male H-M senior, an alto saxophone, a soccer ball and a lot of spirit, Pioneer style. Whom do you get? Ed Pletsch. At the age of ten, Ed first started saxophone lessons at Eagle Point Elementary School. It was a good thing for music lovers at Hill-Murray. Ed played in Stage Band all four years of high school, Jazz Band his Senior year, Pep Band his Freshman and Sophomore years and Marching Band Freshman through Junior years. Ed said he spent long hard hours of work and developed a lot of patience and determination. On January 15, 1986, all of those hours paid off. Ed was chosen as one of the 200 area's top band members who saluted the Statue of Liberty Centennial in a special concert at Orchestra Hall on January 26. He was recommended by Band director Warren Starr and was selected to the High School Honor Band. Often Ed carries a soccer ball in addition to his saxophone. Ed played soccer all four years at H-M. Senior year he played a striker and forward. This fall he plans to attend Mankato State University and major in engineering. He would like to play soccer in college, but Mankato State doesn't have a team yet. Who knows? The founder of the Mankato State soccer team could be Ed Pletsch.

Jaguars and Junkers

A car pulls into the lot, its muffler barely hanging by a thread. The radiating shine of polished metal catches many peoples' attention as another car turns into the driveway. A third driver happily slips the family station wagon into a parking spot. He is thrilled that Dad finally gave him the keys for a day. Whatever the exact means of transportation might be, everyone ends up in the same place. But taking a look around our parking lot can be an interesting experience. The newer, fancier cars quickly attract many admirers while the jalopies cause some of us to wonder if they're safe to drive. Also, are those cars actually registered and legally driveable?

Owning a car can be an even bigger responsibility than driving one. To keep your car running and at its best one must check the following: oil, gas tank filled, working heater in winter and air conditioner in the summer, sharply tuned radio, anti-freeze, tires filled and functioning window wipers. Last but not least, does it run, even on one cylinder?

A Lesson in Skiing

Get out there and ski like a pro; Keep your knees together, Keep them bent. Lean back a bit, plant your poles.

Get out there and ski like a pro; Keep your mind set, Look ahead, think ahead, be always in control.

Get out there and ski like a pro; Have your own style, make others notice, yet ski for yourself, make it feel right.

Get out there and ski like a pro; Be aggressive, want to ski. Take all the chances you get, never give up.

Now,
get out there and ski like a pro.
-Brenda Ewald

This is the way the bombs
will sound, as they soar overhead
To reach their destination and destroy human life and this is the way the screams will sound, as mothers search
To find their children and hug them one last time and this is the way the sirens will roar, to tell the people the end is near,
and warn them of the fallout
and this is the way the President will decide
To keep the peace and end it all
and this is the way
the Russians will cry ...
-Laura Richelsen

Did your balloon pop, Harvey?

A beautiful jet black mane hung slightly below his ears. His head hung low, as if to whisper to little Joe. His deep tan, matched with the startling black eyes, gave him a look of a wise elder. His eyes held a shade of weariness and his feet moved slowly.

Little Joe ran to keep up with his slow, large steps. Joe was deeply attached to the figure next to him, and he strived to be like him. Joe walked in silence, occasionally letting himself be heard. He had the impatience of a young one. He was built much like the dark figure next to him, with long powerful legs and darker revealing eyes. His hair was of a lighter shade and was not quite the length that it would be one day soon. The difference in nature was linked by one beautiful marking, a birth mark; a snow-white strip of hair that raced down their foreheads.

Little Joe cuddled closer to his father's shoulder for the comfort he knew he'd find. Together they walked, hooves clacking, tails sweeping and ears perking. Together they would find their way.

-Andrea Theissen

Chinese firedrills are not dangerous unless the driver takes off without you.

"Looks good, Swany! Now try it moving."

Martha Faust listens attentively to Gab Teen Gossip.

Karen and Barb exclaim, "This is where we are!"

The gang stops for a quick chat at the stoplight.

Things To Do At A Stoplight

A yellow light ... speed up ... DANG ... missed it!! Now, there's at least a minute wait. What can be done in that minute? How about taking that quick catnap? The only problem is waking up in time. Chinese firecrackers are popular with rowdy groups. Running around the car looks kind of funny, especially when the driver takes off without everyone.

ACME manufactures "One-Minute Parties." These parties come equipped with balloons, streamers, noisemakers, and confetti. They're extremely handy for the businessperson-on-the-run.

Some people use this time wisely to try to figure out where they're going, where they're coming from, and where they are. Others grab that peaceful moment to shovel in some food. Some might take another minute to call Mom.

Stoplights are often thought of as a waste of time. With clever ideas, however, those few minutes can become great memories!

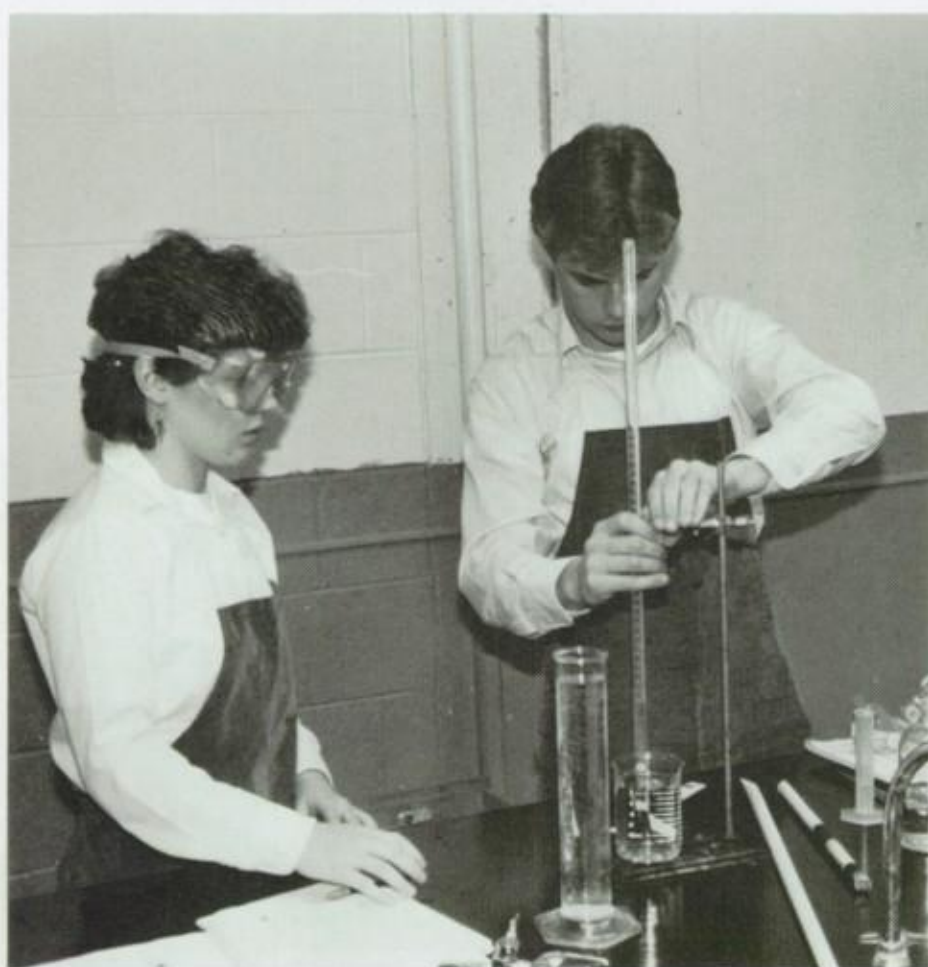

Katie Rueb puts on her last minute touch-up.

Pardon, est-ce que vous avez du Grey Poupon, Madame?

SUN SAVVY

Tanning has become an obsession for some young people today. What is the fascination with lying in the sun, soaking up ultraviolet rays? It is probably the warm, golden glow achieved after lounging under the relaxing rays. It certainly can't be the unfortunate lobster-like effect some suffer.

Tanning booths have become the latest craze, especially during the winter. The booths look like coffins — rectangular, body-size boxes. Inside, ultraviolet rays shoot out from all directions while the tanner lies on top of sheets of glass. The booths allow everyone, even Minnesotans, to have a little skin color all year around.

Since a tan is a darkening of the pigment deep within the skin, too much sun can be dangerous. Skin can absorb only a limited amount of the sun's burning ultraviolet rays before damage occurs. The damage may appear immediately as a sunburn. It may result in premature aging of the skin or even cause skin cancer after prolonged or repeated exposure.

The most sensitive parts of the body are the lips, nose, eyelids, throat, cheeks, nape of the neck and areas under the chin and eyes. Pay close attention to these areas and be sure to cover them accordingly.

Skin type is the single most important factor influencing susceptibility to sunburn. As a rule, people with lighter skin tones are more sensitive to the sun. Deeply pigmented or tanned skin is more resistant to burning.

Most people are not aware they can get a sunburn while sitting under a big beach umbrella, since the sun's rays will reflect off the sand and water. One can also get a burn and not even realize it until 24-48 hours later. Wearing a shirt to protect chest and shoulders won't block all the rays. Twenty percent still reach the skin. If taking medication, specifically antibiotics or antihistamines, consult a doctor before spending a lot of time in the sun. Mixing sunning and medication could be very hazardous.

The most basic advice is to apply lotion with the appropriate SPF one-half hour before sunning. Reapply often, especially after swimming or exercising.

Juniors

"Yah - We're awesome!"

We are kind of special, aren't we?

Glenn Gibbons, "Doc" DelCastillo and Matt Hiber press on during that last mile.

"I'm supposed to type THAT?" thinks Anne McCauley.

"We Juniors are friendly people."

Do all Juniors look like this?

Love Makes The World Go Around!

Mr. Otto and Mr. Wessel take time out for their favorite students.

"Is Babykins sleepy?" Amy Arends coos.

Jeannine DuCharme shows us her perfect techniques.

Right: Miss Klukow shares, her excitement with the ref.

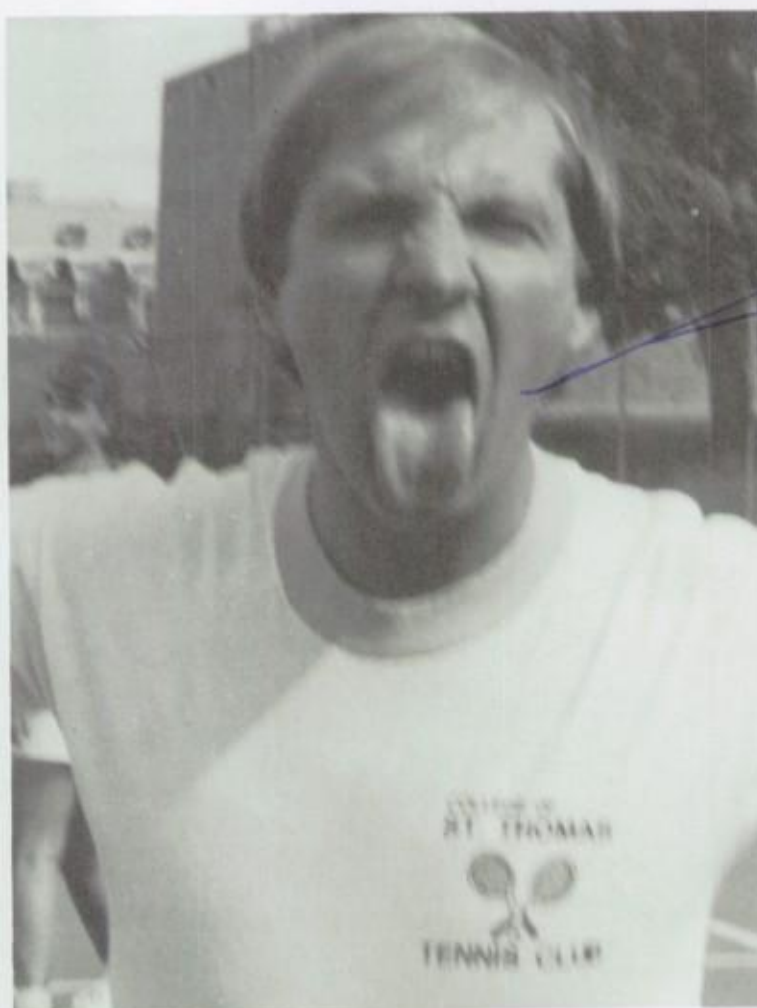

Chief Frickey gathers up his little Indians.

"I always wear these glasses when I go out with girls."

Betsy Antolak likes "thin men."

Mr. Bauman reassures us, "I like you, I like you."

Have you ever noticed how many gestures you can use to show that special someone that you like them? There are many ways people show their feelings. Some gestures may be a little milder than others. For example: You're walking down main hall and your best buddy is walking towards you. "Hey, what's going on?" you shout while slapping his hand. That's one type of gesture.

A few of us are a little more "touchy" than others. Some like to hug, squeeze, give friendship kisses.

It doesn't really matter how we show our feelings as long as we show them in one way or another.

Lights Out . . . at 9 a.m.?

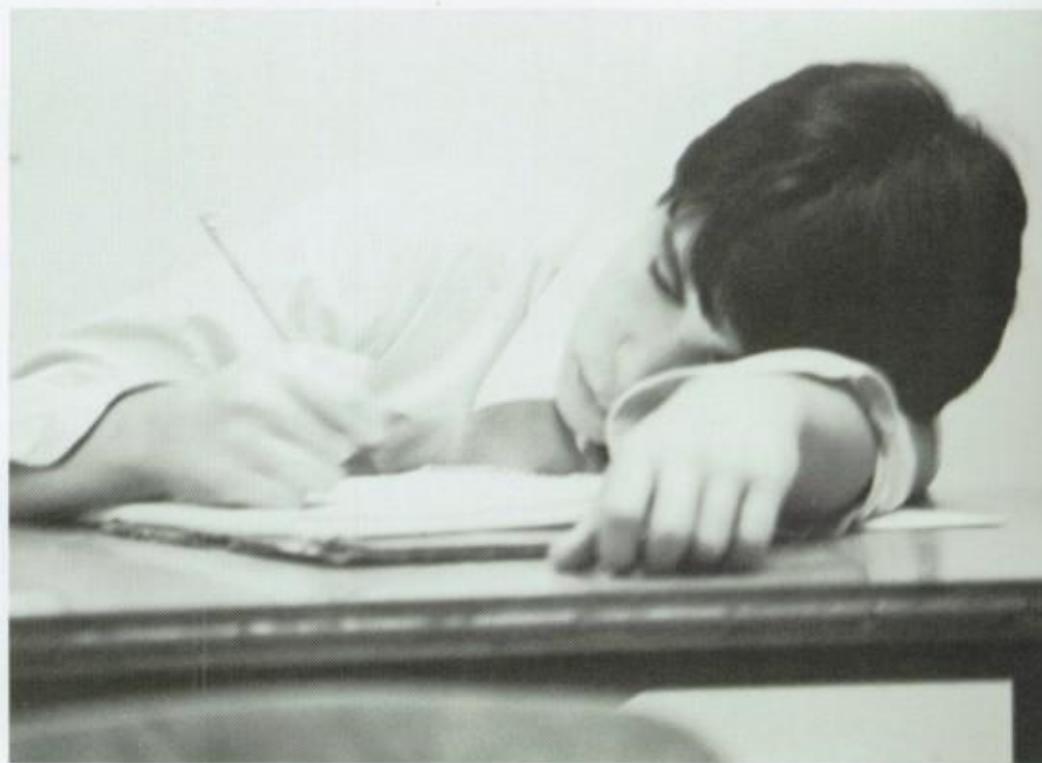

"And then the colonies began to fight back . . . The Stamp Act Congress," and the teacher's voice slowly fades away.

A student's vision becomes blurred as the Bic bounces off the paper. Your eyelids are very heavy. They feel like 1,000 pound weights pushing your eyes closed. Once your eyes slam shut, your head begins to bob until it suddenly hits your desk and the reflexes in your neck pull it back up like a whip snapping in the air.

You made it through first hour and that is an accomplishment that deserves national recognition. So what do you do now? Try to stay awake until you can get to the cafe for some sugar and caffeine? No, that's the hard way. Rather, you master the techniques of catching up on sleep during class.

A few suggestions include:

1. If you're in the back of the classroom, slowly put your head down as you hide behind the football player who sits in front of you. Allowing your head to drop suddenly makes the teacher a little suspicious.
2. For those in the front of the classroom, sit at your desk facing forward so you look as though you're paying attention. Then, prop up your head with your hand and stare at your notebook. (You can glance up occasionally and pretend to take pages of notes.) As soon as the teacher steps out of your immediate line of vision, let your eyes droop and catch some quick zzzz's.
3. Conspire with your classmates. Each day, a few people get to sleep while the others carry the class discussion. Those who carry the discussion might also sit together to block the teacher's view of the snoring ones. Rotate who gets to sleep.

STEVE BROWN

Age: 16

Class Rank: Unable to be computed.

High School Activities: Football. Track. Ski Club. Synchronized Swimming.

Outside Activities: As shown in this picture, Steve is President of Smilers Anonymous. He also enjoys playing the drums, guitar, and harmonica, all produced by Fisher Price.

Income: $2.50. A weekly allowance from parents.

Steve recently nominated himself for "Sophomore of the Year." The Yearbook Staff, never hearing of this, decided to look into it. Steve was even willing to give up his weekly allowance for one month to fund his campaign.

The odds were high, but Steve pulled through and won. The staff based his winnings on academic ability, outside activities and leadership. It did not let the fact that he was the only candidate affect their decision.

Future: Steve Brown feels that this award will aid him in future references for colleges. "This experience was worth the struggle."

Frank Nicosia bones up on biology.

Cara Moran contemplates the real meaning of life.

They Won't Find Me Here!

H-M Hiding Places

Pete, smile. You've been discovered by "Candid Camera."

"If I can just squeeze in a little bit more," Daryn Zaffke considers.

It's between classes, you have a test next hour and you didn't study because "Family Ties" and "The Cosby Show" were on last night. Panic sets in . . . What do you do? . . . DITCH! . . . But where? If you think about it, it's not really hard to find a spot to hide. Not getting caught is the hard part. We've come up with quite a list for you to study in case of an emergency. The Nurse's Office is a popular spot, especially on Fridays, along with the library and the bathrooms. Locker rooms and the Trading Post offer asylum to a few students. A few other spots include under the stairs, under the stage, the kitchen, the cafe, and a locker.

Sure, there are a lot more places to duck out of view, but if we told you about them, they would be overcrowded and then no one could hide there.

Joe Higgins and Jeff Kloetzke wait in suspense as someone approaches the stairs.

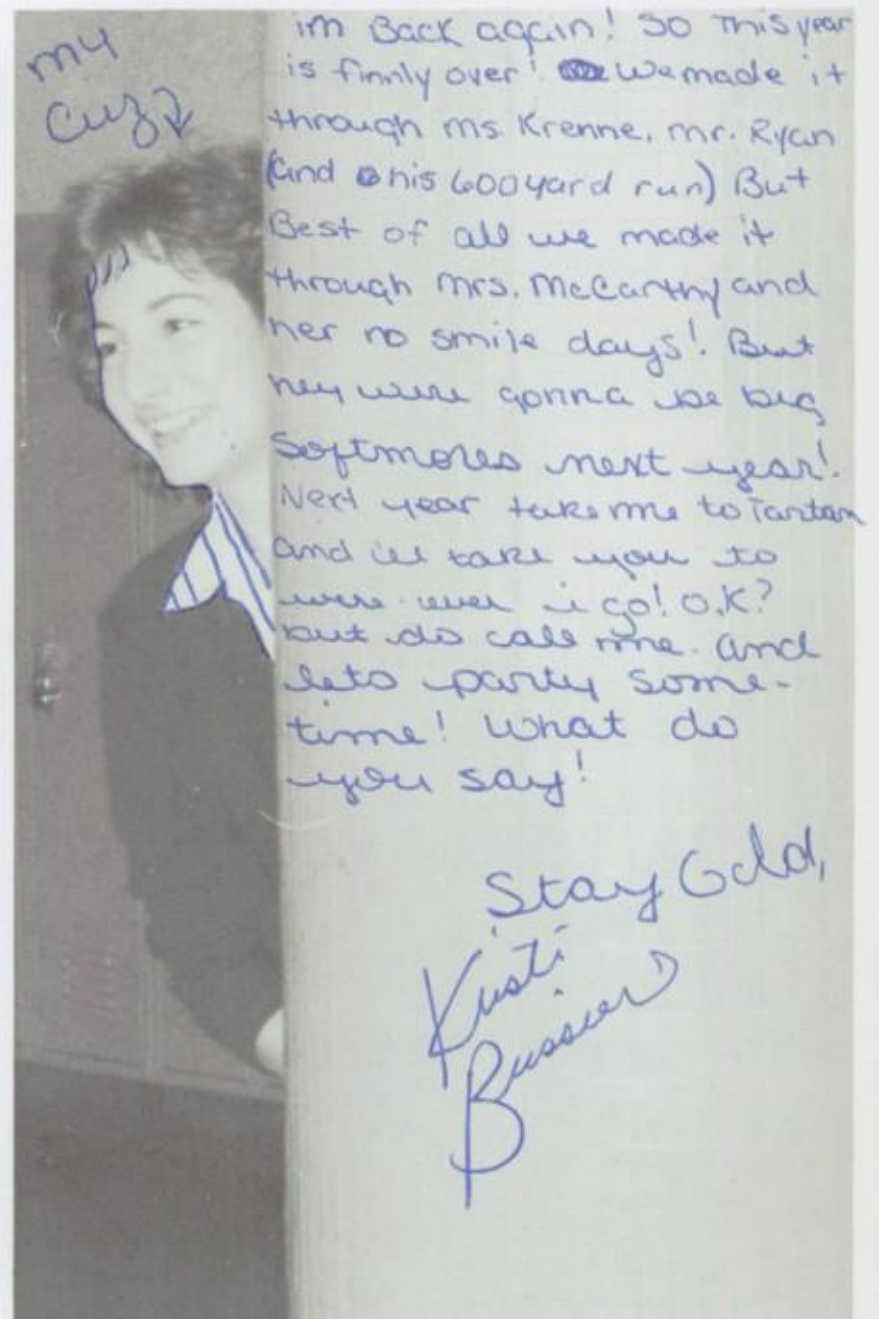

Where Can I Hide?

Lara Piszczek stands in horror, waiting for 4th hour to end.

"I don't have any books under my blanket ... honest," Erin Roberts pouts.

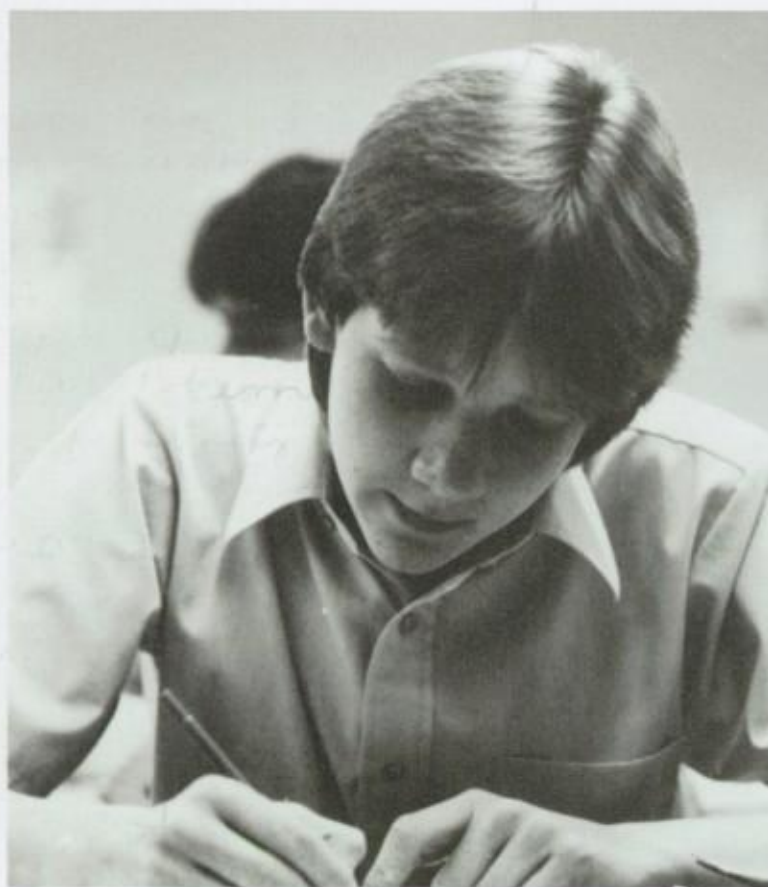

The pillar is a popular spot, but only the best can successfully keep hidden for an entire hour, like Patty Caven.

Please Note:

- We, the Yearbook Staff, only recommend hiding in lockers for the "smaller people."
- When going to the Nurse's Office, mess up your hair, untuck part of your shirt, and make it look like the books you are carrying have no importance in your life.
- If dodging hall monitors is your thing, disguise yourself, perhaps by singing "O Come, O Come Emmanuel," no matter what time of the year it is.
- The most important advice we can give you is — We are not responsible for any consequences suffered as a result of your childish behavior!

Dearest Nora,
This year has really been fun. Without you as my friend, my year wouldn't have been complete. We both had our ups and downs this year. And when I did you were always there for me. I thank you very much for everything you've done for me. You are the greatest! I am really, really gonna miss you next year & always. We really had some fun times in the past and I hope we get together and do some more in the future. I wish you the best of luck in your future years in school and everything you do. We better keep in touch!
P.S. Take Care & I Love you,

Beginnings

On September 13, 1958, 211 girls were enrolled in the first Archbishop Murray Memorial High School (AMMHS) freshmen class. Sister Claire Lynch, O.S.B., headed a staff of seven Benedictine sisters and five lay teachers. The year's tuition was $165.

In September, 1959, approximately 100 boys attended Hill High School, now Mounds Park Academy. Most of the Class of 1962 had spent their freshman year at Cretin High School. Eventually, the first Hill graduating class numbered 162. Tuition was $150 per year. During the 12 years of Hill's existence, Brother J. Felix Scanlon (1959-65) and Brother H. Lewis Twohig (1965-71) led a staff evenly divided between Christian Brothers and lay faculty. Hill reached its peak enrollment of 1248 during 1967-68. Tuition had increased to $500 yearly.

In September, 1971, AMMHS and Hill merged and became Hill-Murray. Coed enrollment was 1153. The staff had grown to include 15 sisters, 42 lay faculty, two priests and four Christian Brothers. Frank Asenbrenner, AMMHS principal since 1969, became the first principal of Hill-Murray. Tuition totaled $400.

Present faculty/staff members, who were "Pioneers" at AMMHS and Hill include Sr. Pat Collins, Jeanne Clappier, Delphine Cooper, Bernice Fisher, Mary Ruemmele, Honor Hacker, Kathleen Hubler and Mary Meyer; from Hill, James Rohlik, James Johnson, John Mauer, Gerald Firner, Jack Kight, Dennis Peterson and Ken Baisley.

The Epidemic

Overcrowded halls . . . it's second nature at H-M. No matter how hard one tries, a person can't avoid the crowded halls.

By 2:05, the tension in the classroom can be cut with a knife. Everyone stares at the clock for the last two minutes. Then the bomb drops and blurs of grey and blue streak through the halls. It takes less than seven seconds, as these pictures show, for the halls to start swarming.

No matter which hall or stairs one takes, heavy traffic can't be avoided. It's an epidemic with no cure.

Academic education, at Hill-Murray, is the pursuit of excellence in all areas of learning and personal growth. We take a look at days long past and the possibilities the future holds. We try to reach an understanding of the world around us, what it was and what it will be.

Bread baking, sewing and child development are some of the popular topics covered in Home Ec. classes this year. Students learned many important skills such as cooking and caring for very small children — useful skills for the future. In sewing classes, students can express themselves creatively by making clothes and crafts.

Cafeteria is everybody's favorite room in the school! Sugar fixes, caffeine attacks and food strikes all occur here.

Detention is an inevitable part of an H-M student's life.

Mrs. Dougherty and "the gang" snuggle with the stuffed animals they made in Outdoor Sewing.

EA European trip is planned by foreign language teachers and students this June. More than 50 students plan to explore seven historically rich European countries. The department offered three languages this year. Students may take four years of German, French and Spanish.

Formulas are a major part of almost any Math class. Everyday, people solve problems using basic mathematical skills. Abstract and difficult classes such as Calculus, Analysis, Algebra 2 and Trigonometry provide a challenge to many students, while some courses involve more practical applications. Consumer Mathematics helps strengthen students' skills in home and car buying. Income tax and insurance tips are also offered.

Goggles are a safety precaution in the Industrial Arts shop. The I.A. Department offers students the opportunity to learn basics of woodworking and how to use the tools involved. It also offers students the chance to be creative and to design their own projects, as well as safely operate the machinery. For those who are interested, courses in engines and light Construction are offered. Students in Construction build wood sheds. When completed, the sheds are sold to the public.

Health is an addition to the physical education curriculum this year as a requirement for juniors. The class meets two days a week, alternating with three-day-a-week Religion courses for the entire year. The class focuses on maintaining health in everyday life. Again this year, phy. ed. classes gave freshmen and sophomores a chance to exercise energetically and offered juniors and seniors diversified options, such as advanced phy. ed., weight training, first aid and athletic training principles.

K The keyboard is one of the basic parts of a computer. The keyboard allows us to input information into the computer, so it is returned in a more useful form. Then, students attempt to get information out of those confusing machines. This year, Introduction to Microcomputing, a new class, gives students hands-on experience with data bases, spreadsheets and word processing. In Basic and Pascal Programming, students discover how a computer actually reads and implements program. Computer instructors strive to teach students computer skills in a rapidly expanding field.

Students Listen?

Literature combines many English skills and could be studied over a lifetime. Students examine important types of literature in each of the English classes offered at H-M. English teachers try to develop students' reading, writing and research skills by assigning research and analytical papers and library projects.

MIs a moral person always good? Who was Thomas More? Why is there poverty and hunger in the world today? These are just a few of the questions Religion teachers answered this year. Department teachers try to give students a better understanding of their faith. Also, they attempt to instill in students an appreciation of religion and how it plays a part in their daily lives.

Take your choice: experiment or explosion? lectures Mrs. Heidi

NO not another test/quiz to take, to correct; deficiencies, six-week grades, trimester grades, to record, to report to parents.

Paint brushes, canvases, clay, water colors, oils, prints, silkscreens and sketchbooks are a few basic tools used by art students this year. A variety of courses are offered. The basics begin with Art Fundamentals and continue with Studio or Advanced art. Drawing and painting classes are a possibility for students with talent. Calligraphy, clay and craft classes are an alternate route for those interested in other areas of art. Ceramics and pottery classes provide the opportunity to those artists who wish to "go back to nature" and create clay pots, dishes and vases. Throughout the year, the art department offers aspiring artists the chance to express creative talents and to learn specialized crafts.

Quiet! It's demanded in study halls, in the library and in the classroom. But it isn't always achieved.

RNA and DNA are two of the most popular topics in the Science department's newest class, Human Heredity. The new class was not the only change in the department this year. The departure of Bro. Martin Sellner brought two new chairpersons to the department — Mr. Paul Menge and Miss Terry Brown. Mr. Menge is in charge of life science courses and Physical Science department. Miss Brown is head of the Chemistry, Physics, Aviation and Electricity classes. The department's diversified classes offer students the chance to study courses which suit them best. Either Chemistry and Physics problems or Biology and Anatomy concepts keep many students burning the midnight oil.

"Look all around you. You're surrounded by things to draw," Miss Ruemmele reminds Linnea Ketelsen.

Psyche Up For School?

Isn't word processing fun? Mrs. Quam asks Leanne Sass.

Usually, a student can tell when a teacher is upset. Steam escapes from ears, drool slobbers past chins, eyes begin to bulge, entire faces redden and voices quake. Then, students shake.

Vacations should be as plentiful as possible, at least twice a month. It's another idea someone should suggest to the administration.

World History is required again this year, but for sophomores rather than juniors, as it was last year. Sophomores who take a foreign language course are exempt from the requirement. Juniors take American History, while seniors spend the year enjoying Government, Sociology and Economics classes. Freshmen have the opportunity to take an elective which covers world geography and current events.

Xactly!" Pneumonia of the knees/elbows is caused by short skirts or short sleeves.

Shock occurs in early morning, that time of day when alarms clang and awaken us to a bright, new day. We glance at the device with hate in our eyes as we throw it across the room. Ahh, back to sleep we go.

Typing is an essential skill for high school and college students. The endless number of research and analytical papers and essays students are required to write make typing very useful to learn. The Business Department offers students the chance to become proficient in the commercial world by teaching use of dictaphones and word processors — the office machines of today.

The Boys of Basketball, Mr. Conway and Mr. Wold, take a time out.

Anyone for a European vacacción or Deutsche Ferien? Ms. Winter wonders.

What do you do? Your Saint report is due tomorrow, and you haven't even started. You rush into the library and stop dead in your tracks. Panic seizes your body. Where do you even begin? Well, never fear, Mrs. Leopold-Mills and Mrs. Nicklawske are here! They are forever helping students find books, magazines, and research materials. The librarians seem to know just where to find hidden information. This year, with the use of computer indexing the search was speedier and easier.

You've just lost your pen, need your book covered by next hour, and graph paper is needed by fifth. What do you do? Well, you could make a break for Target, but that's not too wise. No, in emergencies like these, it's time to hit the Trading Post. There, Mrs. Simpkins greets you with a smile. You can be in and out in as fast as thirty seconds flat. She's always willing to help in any way possible. She keeps track of every book each student has. She is extremely busy and important to those of us at H-M. So, the next time you need a folder, book, or want to chat, Mrs. Simpkins will be awaiting you.

The cafeteria, located in the basement, is probably the most popular place at Hill-Murray. The cafeteria is managed by the kitchen staff. Six women do a terrific job of preparing the food, serving the students, and filling the machines. The cafeteria menu includes: Monday, Italian Spaghetti; Tuesday, Mexican Chili; Wednesday, American Turkey dinner complete with mashed potatoes; Thursday, Chow Mein. Everybody looks forward to Friday's Pizza. If worldwide food doesn't satisfy your taste buds, American hamburgers and French fries will.

If one seems to have become overstuffed with the cafeteria food and feels the need to lie down, the Health Services is located only two doors down the hall. Mrs. Koonce is always ready with a smile. She will keep students as comfortable as possible and try to help them recover from a tummy ache.

Also, located near the cafeteria and Health Services is the maintenance room. The maintenance men do an excellent job of keeping H-M clean. In winter, the janitors keep the sidewalks safe and the heaters working. In spring, they keep our grass cut and green. Every day the crew sweeps halls and cleans classrooms. They help to keep our school looking great!

Mrs. Koonce happily calls another parent.

Mrs. Hodges is Hill-Murray's Director of Finance and planning. She assists preparation of payroll, helps to administer Federal and State Funding, and works on many cost analyses.

Mr. Hoffland is Assistant Audio-visual Director and Assistant Theater Director. These jobs enable him to provide visual equipment for students and produce theater productions.

Jim Asenbrenner is the Assistant Director of Development. He works with alumni publications, financial aid programs, and estate planning.

Mr. Frickey is the new Athletic Director. Scheduling athletic events is one of his main concentrations. As seen in the picture above, he works very hard at keeping his desk immaculate.

Caring Counselors Guide Students

Mrs. Schwachtgen puts on a happy face for the students who come to the Counseling Office.

Jane and John have just been accepted at Princeton. Thanks and appreciation go to their counselors. Throughout their high school years, they have been here to help with any problems, such as grades, choosing classes and especially making decisions about college. They have been a reservoir of information and glad to share it with students.

Hill-Murray Counseling Services include five on-campus counselors: Mrs. Bette Jayne Haak, Mr. Gerald Firner, Mr. Kevin Mackin, Sister Pat Collins and Anne Wosmek and two off-campus counselors, Mr. Tom Bauman and Mrs. Ellen Snustad.

Due to a new state law, non-public counselors are not allowed on campus. The off-campus counseling offices are located at the District Office building on McKnight. Van Driver Willie transported students to counseling appointments.

The Counseling Services provide peer groups for troubled students. These groups include: Alateen for students needing help coping with chemical dependency of family members and friends; Grief and Loss for students adjusting to the loss of loved ones; No Use for students who have decided to stop using drugs or alcohol; Personal Problem Solving to help teenagers deal with stress such as peer pressure and low grades; Teens of Single, Divorced, Separated or Blended Families, and Second Wind for students who have seriously considered or tried suicide.

Sometime during the school year, students see their counselor, either for a yearly evaluation or a personal problem. Any of the counseling staff is always ready to help students.

Willie Jordan is prepared to chauffeur any student who needs to see Mr. Bauman.

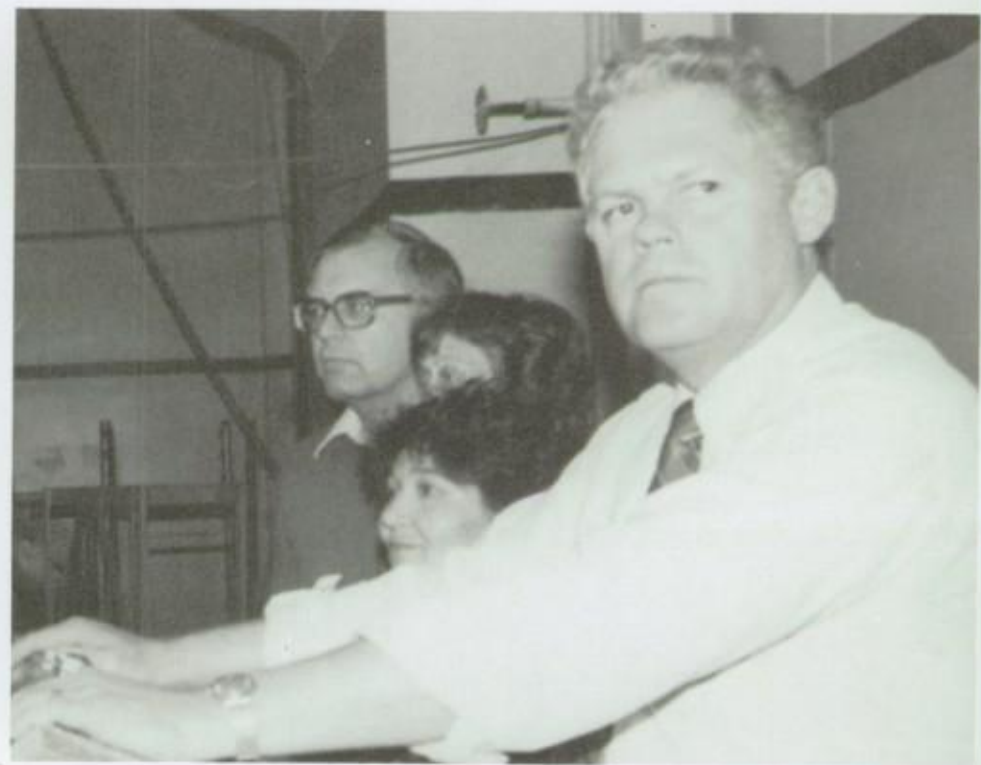

The Administrative Team:

The Administrative Team: James Rohlik, James Johnson, Sister Pat, Frank Asenbrenner.

Sister Pat relaxes in her favorite place, the Career Resource Center.

Mr. Rohlik draws a $1,000 Pioneer Sweepstakes winner.

People Working Together

Mr. Johnson considers expelling the entire senior class.

Mr. Asenbrenner is clowning around again.

The word "administration" is defined as a "body of persons who manage or supervise the use, execution, or conduct of." At Hill-Murray, the administrative team manages and supervises conduct of the students and directs school events. This group consists of four people.

Mr. Frank Asenbrenner is the principal. He is often at many school functions, such as open houses and concerts, to greet and talk with students and their parents. He is the marching band director. Also, he assists at school masses as a deacon.

Mr. Jim Rohlik is an assistant principal. He supervises the scheduling of classes. With the move to trimester classes and grading, there have been more problems than usual this year. He tries to straighten out conflicts in schedules, such as making sure that a student doesn't have two biology classes, two English classes, and no lunch hour.

Assistant Principal Jim Johnson is also the development director and the director of student affairs. He handles discipline problems and general conflicts within the student body and the faculty. Mr. Johnson is also in charge of the Annual Giving program and alumni giving.

Sister Pat Collins is also an assistant principal, as well as the Director of Counseling Services.

The administrative team has helped to formulate Hill-Murray's philosophy of education. It includes: a belief in the responsibility of parents, school, and the church to educate the students of the community; a belief in the equality of all people; a belief in the pursuit of academic excellence, and a belief in the development of the whole person. This philosophy provides for a well-rounded, Christian education for students.

Hill-Murray's administrative team could simply be defined as "great" because they help students with any problems that may arise during the four years at Hill-Murray. These four people are examples to the students because they are proof that people working together can solve problems and complete jobs.

Pioneers plan a Holbach Maneuver.

The '85 girls soccer team had it all- style, speed, agility. Winning the MISSL Conference Championship for the third straight year, the Pioneers proved just how successful a team can be. Senior Tracy Johnson, the team's MVP, was selected to the All-Conference and All-State teams. Other members of the All-Conference team were Juniors Tracy Norman, Anne Godfrey, and Moe Sullivan. Honorable mention went to Bunny Connelly and Renee Gfrerer. The highlights of the season were overwhelming victories over Washburn and Osseo, both teams that played in the state tournament. The Pioneers dominated 4-0 in both games. Unfortunately, the eleventh-rated Pioneers ended their season with a disappointing loss to White Bear in the first round of regions. Coach Holbach summed up the season as one which was continually "up and down." But when the Pioneers were "up," they proved to be an excellent team!

H-M Second Place

Pioneers Kick Away to Section Finals

For the boys soccer team of '85, this year will not soon be forgotten. The team took second place in the MISSL Division East and became the Section three runner up with a smashing record of 12-3-3. In the section tournament, the team beat Mounds View, one of their toughest competitors, in an overtime shoot-out, 2-1. They furthered their winning record, 2-0, in a game against Kellogg, then rated second in state. Unfortunately, they were defeated 2-0 in the final game against Stillwater. Seniors Todd Valento, Dave Faust, and captains Steve Rohlik, and Mark Johnson, along with Juniors Kevin Fitzgerald and Nick Heyer showed leadership, "the most positive" the team has ever had, according to Coach Paul Menge. Valento, Rohlik, and Faust were named to the All-Conference team, and an honorable mention went to Kevin Fitzgerald.

Coach Menge summarized the season. "This was a team that was very fulfilling to coach. They worked extremely hard, and only played for each other." The team might not have made it to the top yet, but wait until next year!

A behind the scenes look at goalkeeper Paul Dinzeo.

Todd Valento looks for an open teammate.

Mark Johnson defies the law of gravity.

Dan Leone can't decide which sport he likes better-soccer or wrestling.

Captain Steve Rohlik demonstrates the correct way to do the "Twist."

Ed Pletsch jumps in the middle of all the excitement to get the ball from an opposing team member.

The Green And Gold

For the ninth year, the Hill-Murray football team has been under the strong guiding hand of Coach Steve Frickey. It finished its season, above the .500 mark, with a record of 5-4.

The Pioneers were led by returning seniors and captains Steve Frazer, Rick Granger and Mike McGinn. The team's young line-up included junior quarterback Steve Muetzel and classmates Mike Conroy, Jim Misgen, Nick Gerebi, Jeff Blumer and Scott Lyons and sophomore George Behr.

The season started as a promising one with four wins in a row against conference foes, Como Park, Humboldt and Harding, and a 28-0 shutout against non-conference opponent, St. Cloud Apollo.

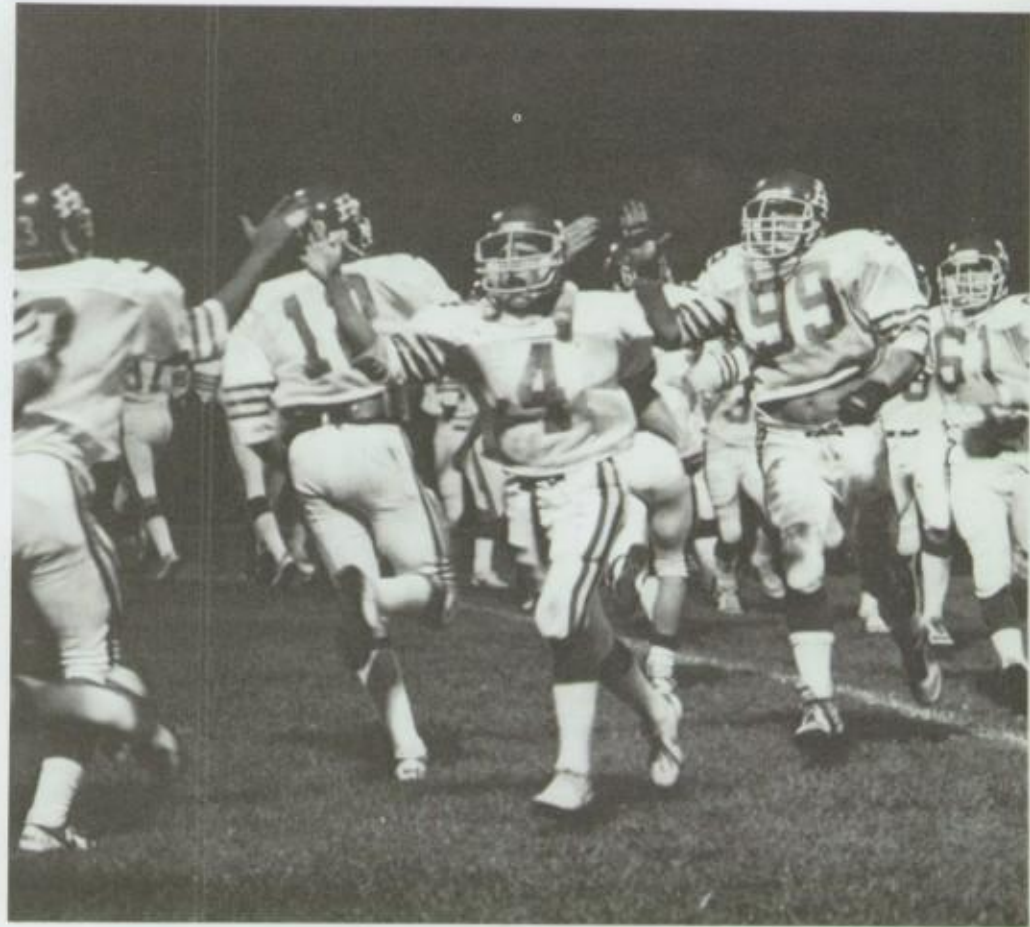

However, the Pioneers lost three games in a row to Central and St. Thomas Academy, both perennial powers in the City conference. The third loss occurred when Johnson and Hill-Murray collided on Higgins Memorial Field. Both schools anticipated a Homecoming victory, but the final score, 14-10, led to a Govie celebration.

A first half scoring surge of 21 points by the Pioneers proved to be the winning margin over Highland Park in the last win of the season.

But in the final game of the season against Conference champion Cretin, the Pioneers came within three points of sending the game into overtime.

Honored for outstanding defensive play were Tony Schmalzbauer and Rick Granger, both All-Conference selections. Granger was also named to the St. Paul Pioneer Press/Dispatch All-Metro team, whose members are chosen from eight St. Paul area conferences.

Next season, with a nucleus of returning letter winners, the Pioneers look forward to a run for the conference title.

Greg Blees (No. 4) leads the Pioneer line in the high five.

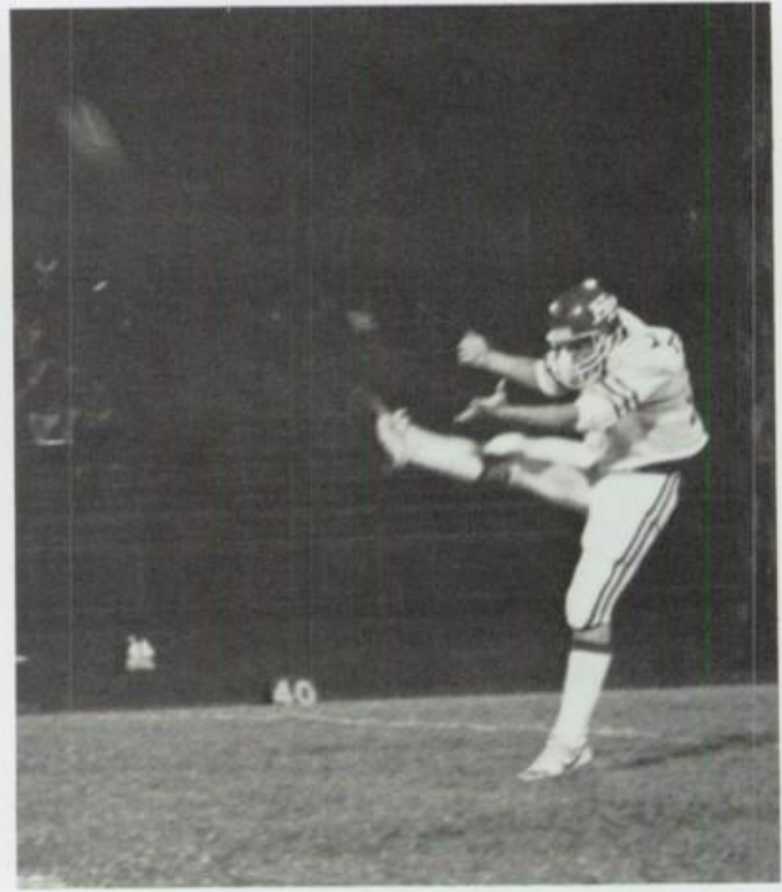

Rick Granger (No. 49) proves defensively it's a "dirty" game.

Bump, Set, Spike

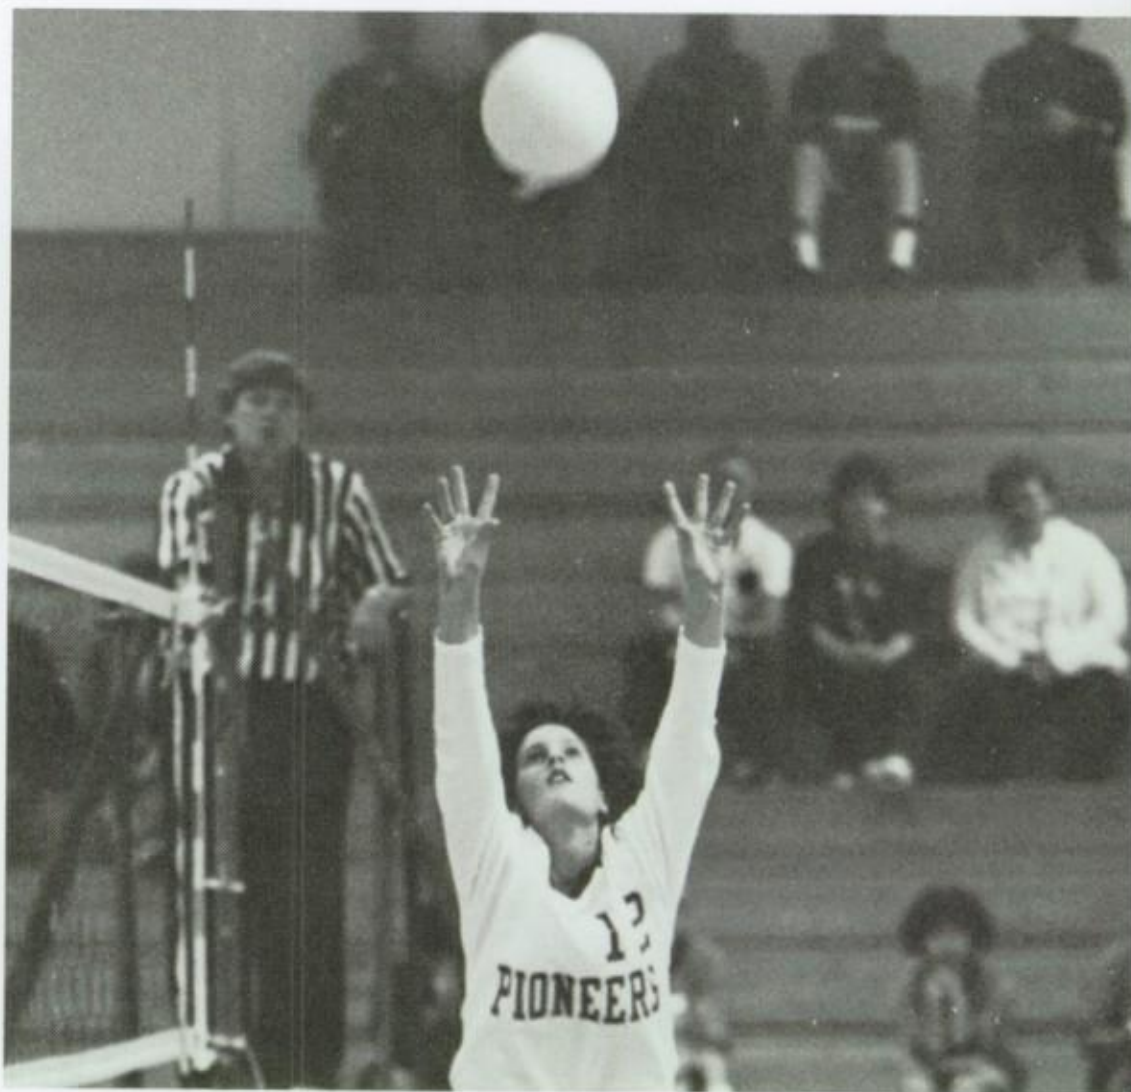

The volleyball team began its season with a very optimistic outlook. Six returning seniors and two juniors contributed to the team's leadership and experience.

Long hard hours of practice paid off. By playing their hardest, the team captured second place in both the St. Anthony and Coon Rapids tournaments.

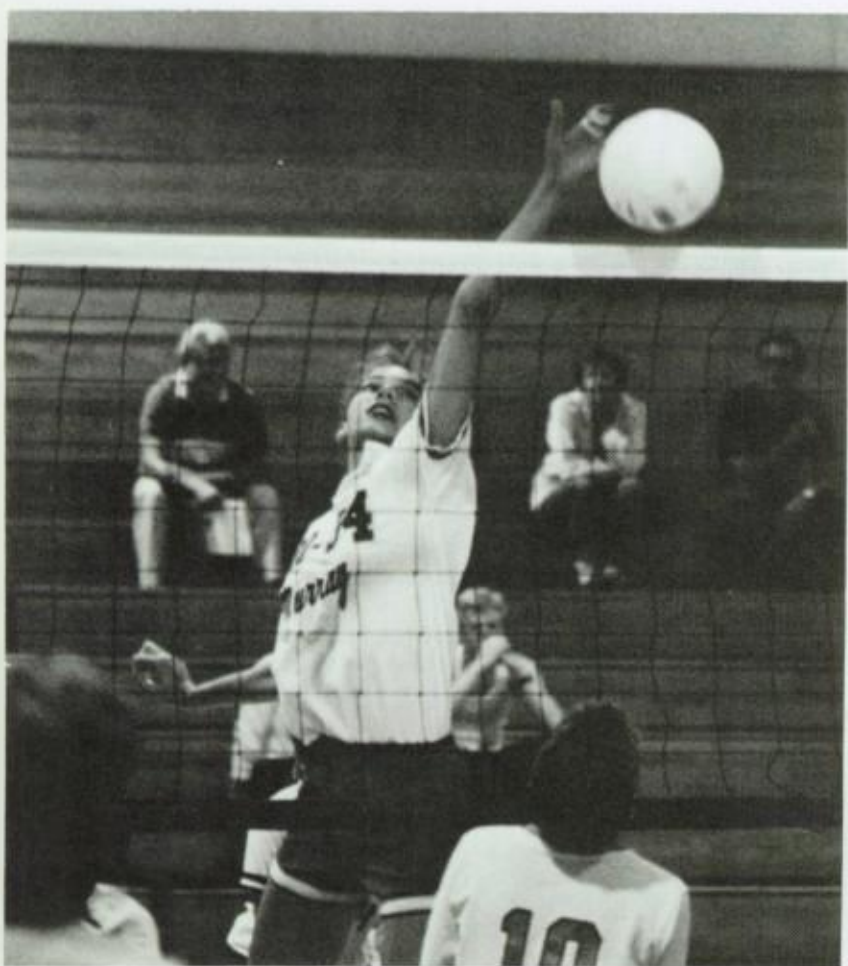

Throughout the season, the team was plagued by sickness and injury, but this didn't stop the players. They stuck together and worked that much harder. This effort showed in the game against Totino-Grace and in the Coon Rapids tournament.

In the conference, the team finished as runnerup. Named to the All-Conference team were seniors Mary Kay Fait and Nikki Haak and junior Anne McCauley.

The season ended quite suddenly for the team as it lost the first regional game to Coon Rapids. The team gave the match everything it had, but it proved to be not enough. It was a disappointing way to end the season, but the team had many accomplishments to savor with a smile.

Dave Cartier shows a look of determination.

Being a member of the Cross Country team doesn't come easily. It involves commitment, endurance, will power, and enough strength to carry a runner over the finish line. These qualities define the Pioneer 1985-86 Cross Country team. With the girls as conference champs for the ninth consecutive year, no one should complain. The boy's team finished in fifth place in the conference meet and also fifth place in regionals. They also competed in the Holy Angels Invitational, in which eleven teams competed. The Pioneers pulled through with a first place trophy. Pat McNamara, Joe Packard, and Bob Gerenz were all-conference selections along with Jane Schoelch, Nicole Gaboury and Laura Olson.

Girls Capture Titles Again

For the sixth consecutive year, the girls tennis team won the St. Paul Conference and Twin City Championship titles.

The team was undefeated in conference play with a 10-0 dual meet record. The Twin City 6-1 victory over Minneapolis Southwest netted another winning season for the Pioneer team.

Led by co-captains Wendy Gulden and Angie Meirick, the team placed second in four invitational tournaments at Rosemount, Brainerd, Roseville Kellogg and Hibbing, and for the second year, defeated a strong St. Paul Academy team.

Varsity singles players included freshman Kelly Craig, seniors Gulden and Lisa Erickson and junior Kim Rustad. Doubles teams were seniors Meirick and Meg Meyer, senior Kelly Luck and junior Dee Gunderson, and junior Laura Shearon and sophomore Margaret LeClair. All-conference selections were Meirick, Meyer, Rustad and Gunderson.

Coached by Tom Bauman, Conference Coach of the Year, the team advanced to Region IV semi-finals. Meirick and Meyer, doubles partners for four years, qualified for the state tournament as Region IV runnersup.

Bauman said he "truly enjoyed coaching" this team with a "positive attitude." He summarized the season as one in which "everyone worked hard and produced when needed."

Fire-up, Y-e-l-l, Go Big Green! Does this sound familiar? Those are the voices of the Hill-Murray cheerleaders. One might think cheerleading is all fun, but that is not true. The girls put much time and effort into their cheers and routines. They also decorate the school for Homecoming and paint colorful signs to announce upcoming games.

During the summer, the cheerleaders were up bright and early to practice their jumps and cheers. They attended a summer camp where they learned new cheers and received blue and red ribbons for recognition as superior squads. The 1985-86 cheerleaders had a "new attitude" and it showed!

During the summer, the Pom-pon squad was up extremely early practicing new routines from 6:30 to 8:00 a.m. Pom-pon expert Cheryl Peterson came to practice sessions and taught the squad the latest routines.

Seven seniors, six juniors and three sophomores were Pom-pon members. The squad chose Shawn Huot as captain, Karen Goethel and Allyson Ryan as co-captains.

During the year, the squad practiced twice a week for two hours and performed at two games a week as well.

Throughout the year, a lot of time and effort went into the routines, but the squad agreed the time had been well spent.

Hard work, team play, and confidence were the major keys to the success of the Girls' Basketball Team this year. With only two starters returning and three seniors, the team was inexperienced.

The season appeared to be off to a great start when Hill-Murray captured first place for the first time in the H-M No. St. Paul Holiday Tournament. January was a big month for the team. Against Spring Lake Park, the team suffered its first loss of the season. At the end of the same week, the girls' showed strong determination by coming back to win a hard-fought game over Highland Park. Later in the season, in its second confrontation with Highland Park, the team lost 48-44 in a tough game that went into overtime.

The team was co-champions with Highland Park for the conference title, but Hill-Murray represented the St. Paul Conference in the Twin City Game. The game was played against Minneapolis Roosevelt. Hill-Murray won the game by a convincing score of 48-25.

Coach Bill Wold summarized the season: "The team showed marked improvement over the year. Balanced scoring along with good team defense were the keys to the success. Over the year, I was pleased with how the team could overcome various injuries and illness." Despite injuries, the season definitely had more ups than downs.

Finishing the regular season with a 19-2 record, the team's hard work had paid off. All-Conference honors went to Nikki Haak, Mya Whitmore, and Tonja Englund. Sue Asenbrenner received Honorable Mention. Coach Wold was chosen conference Coach of the Year.

Shoot For A Pioneer Victory

"Where is the ball? It's about this big," demonstrates George Behr.

Steve Muetzel uses his height to his advantage.

Overall, this has been a respectable year for the Boys' Basketball Team. The team started out strong by winning its first four games. In December, the team played in the Catholic Holiday Tournament. The Pioneers won their first game, lost their second, but ended up beating long time rival St. Thomas Academy to take third place.

Throughout the season, it often seemed that the team came out on the short end of the score. But the Pioneers proved to the conference that they were competitive. The team lost two games to Highland Park, each by a four-point margin. At the beginning of the season, the team lost by 19 points to Central. The second time around, the Pioneers gave it their all, however came up short, losing 56-47.

The team was led throughout the season by senior captain Mike Brodtmann. With his on-the-court leadership, the Pioneers finished the regular season with an 11-9 record. Coach Vince Conway said he admired this team's positive attitude.

The record itself does not display the hard work and determination the team put into the season. During this season, the team laid the groundwork for bigger and better seasons in the future.

One ... Two ... Three ... and the winner is ...

Sticking

Coach Skrypek contemplates the team's next move.

Tray Tuomie gets an aerial view of the net.

Captain Steve Rohlik and alternate captains Mark Johnson and Tom Quinlan, under Coach Terry Skrypek, led the Hill-Murray hockey team, which had eleven returning lettermen, through an excellent season. The Pioneer record was 19-2. The only defeats of the season were back-to-back losses to Edina in the Edina/Met Center Hockey Classic and to Stillwater.

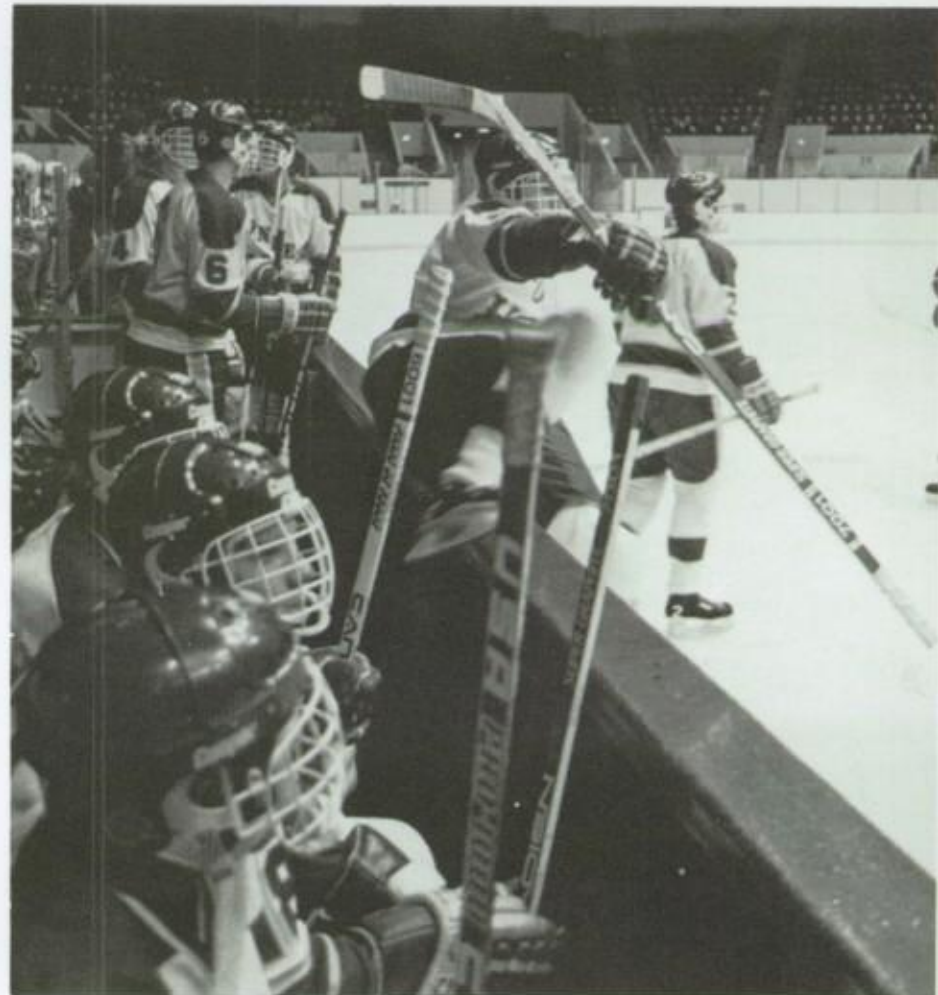

One of the returning lettermen was last year's all-state goalie, Rick Horvath. He was solid in the net again this year, allowing only an average of two goals a game. The team's ability to score during the season was an asset. The Pioneers had three balanced lines which could score on a moment's notice. Rohlik said, "Team unity and an all-around team effort really helped us to score." Another strength of the team was the power play unit consisting of Johnson, Tray Tuomie, Quinlan, Rohlik, and Sean Fabian. This unit scored 30 power play goals. Coach Skrypek said, "Our main strength was in our forward lines, but our emphasis was on defense. We had to stop the other team from scoring." Indeed they did. Goalies Horvath and Todd Tiedens only allowed 38 goals, compared to the 148 that Hill-Murray scored this season. The leading scorers were Tuomie, Rohlik, Johnson, and Quinlan. Tuomie was also the scoring leader in the City Conference.

The team was undefeated in the conference and won the St. Paul City Conference championship. The Pioneers went on to defeat Minneapolis South, 7-0, in the Twin City Game.

Last year, Burnsville defeated Hill-Murray, 4-3, in the state championship. In December, the Pioneers avenged their loss to the Braves with a 7-5 victory. In that game, Tom Quinlan scored five goals. In February, the hockey team defeated the Minnetonka Skippers, 5-3. This was the second time in a row that Hill-Murray defeated the Skippers. It was a hard-hitting game with many penalties. Johnson said this victory "proved we can play with the best of them."

The hockey team suffered many injuries this year. Rohlik and Tuomie both required stitches earlier in the season. A St. Thomas Academy player checked sophomore Brent Sergot into the boards. Sergot suffered a broken femur in the last game of the conference season.

The team won the Section 3 title over White Bear Lake, 4-2, marking Coach Skrypek's 300th victory. The Pioneers entered their tenth state tourney in twelve years and made their fourth straight tournament appearance, seeking a second state title.

"The season is over, yet it feels like it just began," according to Coach Ries.

Pin To Win!

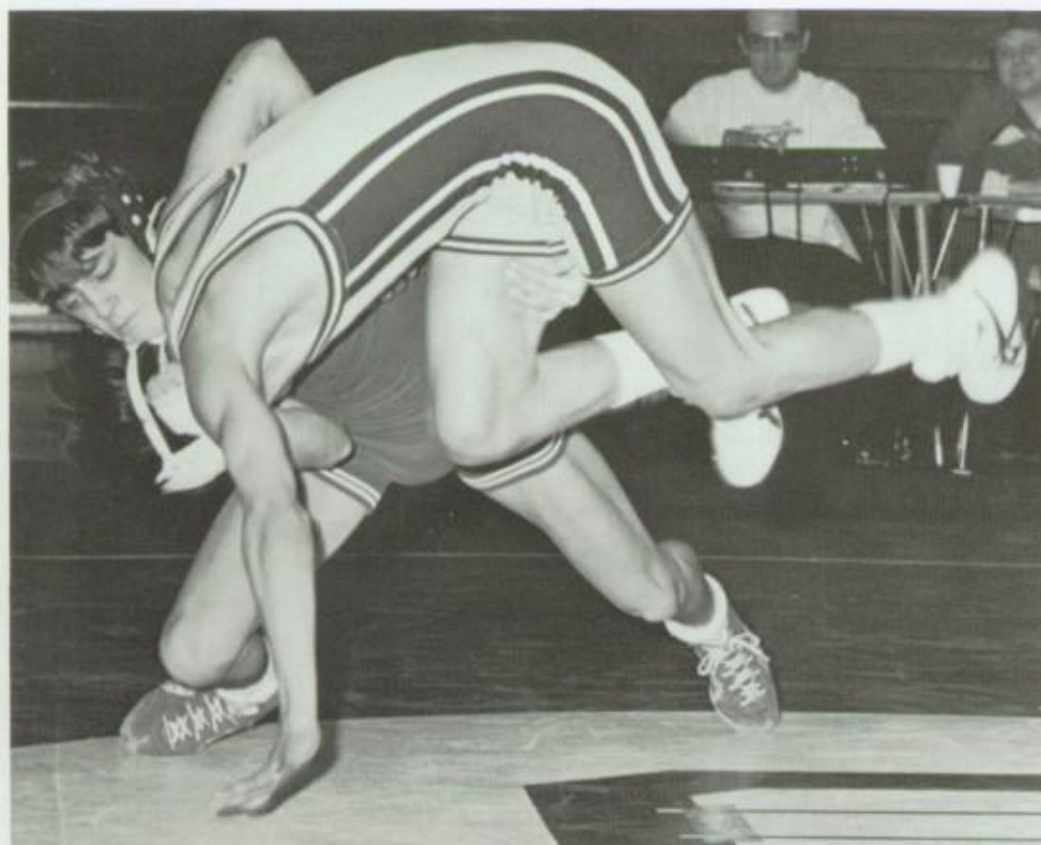

The 1985-86 wrestling season was a very rewarding one. The varsity team finished with a record of 8 wins and 4 losses. The team was coached by Bob Ries and Scott Swanson, and captained by Chris Junek, Chris Sarrack, Chris Urban and Jim Tomsche. Coach Ries commented about the team and its season. "The idea of a 'team' working together was more evident this year than at any other time in my seven years at Hill Murray . . . More than anything else, this year has made us aware that We Are Winners and winners we will be again next year."

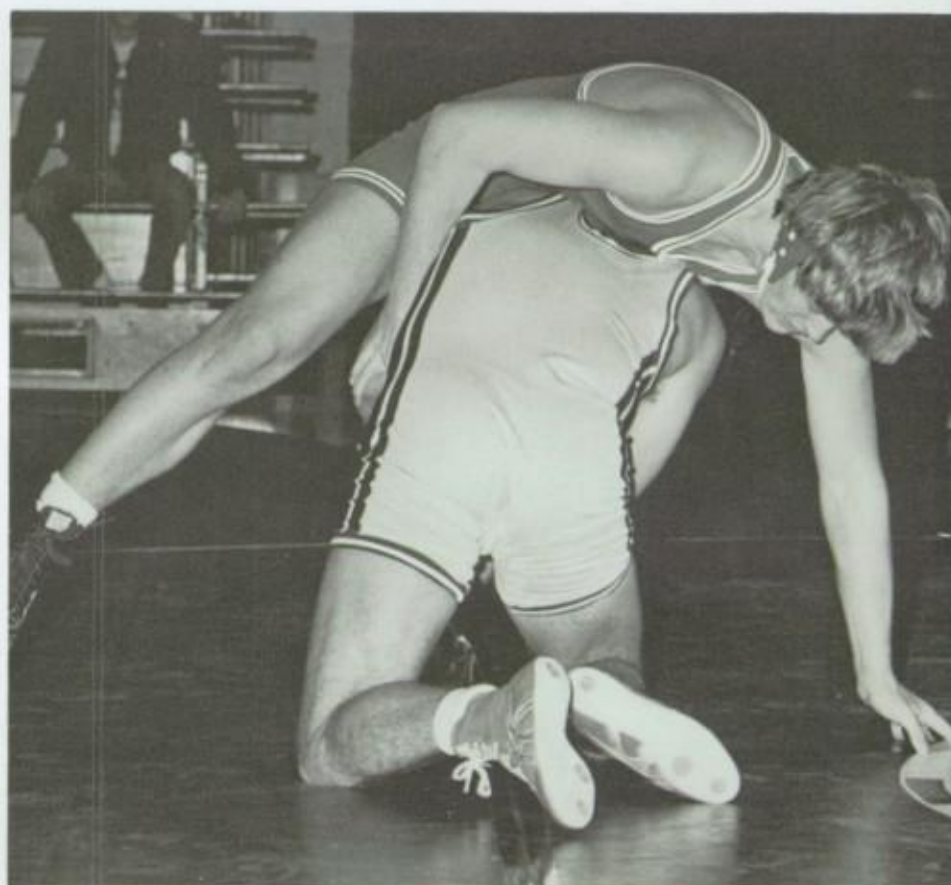

Chris Junek nears the circle of victory.

"Don't move. I've got you covered," exclaims Jim Tomsche.

Skiers Glide to Conference Titles

The right stride is the key to success

The 1985-1986 cross country skiing season was very successful with both teams repeating as conference champs. Coach Zeug commented on the season: "We had an excellent year with snow and especially with our win - loss record, for both boys and girls." Representing Hill-Murray in an undefeated season were individual conference winners, Mary Gerenz, Gina Valento, Kate Scott, Rob McCready, Bohdan Stepchuk, and Dave Cartier. Coach Nichols said the team benefitted in the return of Coach Zeug. "The senior leadership combined with new or young skiers working their hardest gave us a great year," he added.

"Happy trails ... to you!"

Dave Kedrowski says, "Let's ski."

Slalom Skiers Victorious!

This was the inaugural year for the H-M Slalom Ski Team. Both the boys and girls showed great interest in skiing. Total skiers numbered 30. Dryland training started in late November with the first ski meet on December 18. Coached by Miss Terry Brown, the boys and girls' teams were both a success.

"This has been a tremendous building year. Both teams have learned, improved, and worked hard!" exclaimed Coach Brown. "They took what should have been a building year and turned it into an overall winning season."

The boys won the Conference Championship with the girls coming in second. Winning individual honors in the Conference were Tom Hofacker, first place; Matt Corbett, second place and Dan Corbett, fourth place (all pictured below) and Jenny Lund, second place. Matt Corbett was selected Most Valuable Player of the boys' team, and Jenny Lund was the Most Valuable Player of the girls' team. Dan Brown and Laurie Mample were chosen as Most Improved Players.

The boys' team displays the trophy for Conference Champs.

Sean Patrick Lyons
September 3, 1970
December 17, 1985

"Sean was a vibrant color from God's pallet. His ever present smile brought beautiful music to the hearts of his friends and family."

A Child Loaned

"I'll lend you for a little time a child of Mine," God said.

"For you to love the while he lives and mourn for when he's dead.

It may be four or five years or twenty-two or three.

But will you keep him awhile and care for him for Me?"

"He will bring charms to gladden you, and should his stay be brief, You will have his lovely memories as solace for your grief.

I cannot promise you he'll stay, since all from earth return;

But there are joys to know down there I want this child to learn.

And from the folks who walk life's lanes, I have selected you.

Now will you give him all your love? Not think the labor vain?

Nor hate Me when the time does come to take him back again?"

I fancied that I heard them say: "Dear Lord, we accept this son.

For all the joy Thy child shall bring, the risk of grief we'll run.

We'll share with him in tenderness, and love him while we may.

And for the happiness we'll know, forever grateful stay.

And should Thy angel call for him much sooner than we planned,

We'll brave the bitter grief that comes, and give to You his hand."

Memoriam

Patti Jo Michlitsch
February 12, 1969-September 25, 1985

All things have their season and in their times all things pass under heaven.

A time to be born and a time to die.

A time to plant and a time to pluck up that which is planted.

A time to kill and a time to heal.

A time to destroy and a time to build.

A time to weep and a time to laugh.

A time to mourn and a time to dance.

A time to scatter stones and a time to gather.

A time to embrace and a time to be far from embraces.

A time to get and a time to lose.

A time to keep and a time to cast away.

A time to rend and a time to sew.

A time to keep silence and a time to speak.

A time of love and a time of hatred.

A time of war and a time of peace.

Ecclesiastes, 3:1-8

One night a man had a dream.

He dreamed he was walking along the beach with the Lord.
Across the sky flashed scenes from his life.

For each scene, he noticed two sets of footprints in the sand;
one belonging to him, and the other to the Lord.

When the last scene of his life flashed before him,
he looked back at the footprints in the sand.

He noticed that many times along the path of his life there was only one set of footprints.

He also noticed that it happened at the very lowest and saddest times in his life.

This really bothered him and he questioned the Lord about it.
"Lord, you said that once I decided to follow you,
You'd walk with me all the way.

But I have noticed that during the most troublesome times in my life,

there is only one set of footprints.

I don't understand why when I needed you most you would leave me."

The Lord replied, "My precious, precious child,
I love you and I would never leave you.

During your times of trial and suffering,
When you see only one set of footprints,
it was then that I carried you."

Sixteen-hundred copies of the 224-page 1986 Omega were printed by Josten's on 80-pound matte paper, using Palatino type. The four-process color cover depicts the theme, "Crystal Clear," commemorating the fifteenth year of the merger of Archbishop Murray Memorial and Hill High Schools.

The following people had a clear, invaluable hand in the production of the '86 Omega:

Burt Hedstrom, Josten's representative
James Johnson, Assistant principal
Mary Ruemmele, Ralph's originator

now, I've been great talkin to ya, in English though it wasn't a lot. I really think you're nice. Hope to see ya next year.
(maybe in English.)
Ann

WORA,
You are really sweet!
I'm so glad were friends! Good luck
at Tartan. Call me
